DR. ZINCK SEVERS CONNECTION WITH INSTITUTION—CALLED TO CHURCH IN U.S.A.

Dr. Maurer Makes Announcement In Chapel; Rev. E. Neudoerffer Appointed Housefather.

At the regular chapel service Monday morning, January 10, the Rev. J. Maurer, D.D., president of the Board of Governors of the Evangelical Lutheran Seminary of Canada announced that the Board had been unable to prevail upon Rev. Prof. A. A. Zinck, D.D., to reconsider his resignation as president of the seminary. The Board of Governors, said Dr. Maurer, had the utmost confidence in Dr. Zinck and they regretted his departure, but Dr. Zinck was resolved to obey the Divine Will and follow the call of God.

A temporary organization to carry on until the next Board meeting was announced. Rev. Prof. E. E. Neudoerffer, B.D., has been appointed House Father and Chaplain. As House Father he has general oversight over the discipline of the students; as Chaplain he has charge of chapel services. General executive power has been vested in a committee of the Board consisting of the Rev. J. Maurer, the Rev. J. Schmieder and Mr. J. C. Klaehn. These men will carry on until the Board of Governors meets in April. Rev. Prof. Neudoerffer, representing the Seminary Faculty, with the Dean of Waterloo College and the Principal of Waterloo College School will act as a committee to ensure co-ordination between the various faculties. The resignation of Dr. C. H. Little as Dean of the Seminary early last December left the Seminary Faculty without a head. That Faculty has chosen Rev. Prof. Neudoerffer as chairman. Hence besides being House Father and Chaplain he will also act as head of the Seminary Faculty. No other changes in any of the faculties have been made. Waterloo College will continue in charge of Dean Potter and Waterloo College school will continue under the Principalship of Prof. Nickel.

At the close of the chapel service Dr. Zinck delivered a farewell message and then handed over his keys to the new House Father who assumed his duties immediately. Dr. Zinck will continue his work as professor until the end of this semester and about February 1 he will leave for his new work in Milwaukee, Wis.

BOARDING CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

On the evening of Thursday, December 16, the Student Boarding Club held its annual banquet in the spacious gymnasium of the building. The banquet room was gaily decorated in purple and white streamers. At the lower end of the room was a very beautifully decorated Christmas tree on a musical stand which added real Christmas spirit to the occasion.

The banquet was opened at 5.30 by the entire body singing, "Goose, Goose, We Want Goose." This was followed by several songs and the hearty partaking from the heavily laden tables.

Mr. Louis Bald then gave a very inspiring toast to Canada, the nation among nations. In response the students sang several verses of "O Canada. The college school quartet composed of Knapp, Nolting, Haak and Pauli then gave several very fine German and English songs.

Mr. Arthur Mehlenbacher, one of the graduating seminarians, gave the toast to the faculty. He gave it in the form of a dream, as he said, by taking the professors in order of their appearance at the school for many years back in the early history of the school. Arthur showed his

WELL-KNOWN PASTOR'S WIFE CALLED TO REST

Death of Mrs. E. Fischer

The sympathy of the student body goes out to a fellow student, Mr. H. J. Heldman '28, on the loss of a beloved sister, and to a Waterloo graduate, the Rev. Edgar Fischer, of the North Easthope-Wellesley parish, on the death of a loving wife.

Mrs. Fischer passed away at her home in North Easthope on Thursday, January 6, after a very brief illness. Funeral services were held at her parent's home in Kitchener and in St. Matthew's Lutheran church, of which she had always been a faithful member and which church she had served in the Sunday school and in the various societies. The service was conducted by the Rev. John Schneider, pastor, who also preached the sermon. Words of sympathy and consolation were expressed to the sorrowing husband by Dr. A. A. Zinck, on behalf of the Canada Synod, the students, the professors, and the alumni association of this institution. Prayers were offered by the Rev. J. Reble, president of the Canada Synod.

A large number of sorrowing friends flocked to her parents' residence personally to offer condolences and the church edifice was crowded with people who came to pay a last tribute.

STUDENT CONFERENCE ENJOYED BY WATERLOO REPRESENTATIVES

Mr. Albert Lotz Writes Of His Experiences At The International Conference At Madison.

It was with great pleasure that I discovered at a caucus meeting held one week before the Christmas vacations that Mr. Mehlenbacher and I were elected delegates of Waterloo Seminary and College to the International Conference of the Lutheran Student Association of America held at Madison, Wis., from December 30 to January 2. I want to take this opportunity to thank the students for having elected us as representatives to this conference, the second of its kind that was ever held.

On Tuesday evening I started for the trip and when I arrived at Galt (where I was supposed to meet Mr. Mehlenbacher) I discovered with

HERBERT KALBFLEISCH NEW EDITOR-IN-CHIEF OTHER OFFICERS CHOSEN

Staff For Coming Year Elected At Annual Meeting Of College Cord

Mr. Herbert Kalbfleisch '28, will be editor-in-chief of the College Cord for the year 1927. This was the decision of the members of the staff at the annual meeting which was held on Thursday, January 6. The new editor has had considerable experience in connection with the work, having served as a reporter and as circulation manager. Aside from his work on the paper, Mr. Kalbfleisch also holds the position of President of the Student Boarding Club.

The other junior class members of the staff are as follows: Associate Editor, Joseph Gerald Hagey; Business Manager, Wilfred Schweitzer; Advertising Manager, Earle C. Shelley; Circulation Manager, Theodore Wagner. Most of these men have been members of the staff from that time when the paper was still called the "Athenaeum" and was read at the meetings of the Literary Society. It was their efforts which brought about the present printed paper.

At a special meeting held on Monday, January 10, the following members of the freshman class were chosen to fill the positions of reporters: Rudolph Breithaupt, Arthur Buehlow, Harold Crouse, Allen Myra and Lloyd Schaus.

Although no definite arrangement has as yet been made it is expected that the two retiring senior class members of the staff—Albert Lotz

DR. ZINCK

It was with considerable regret that the students learned of the resignation of Dr. A. A. Zinck as President of the Evangelical Lutheran Seminary. Dr. Zinck, as student, instructor, professor and president, has had continuous connection with the institution for the past twelve years. In that time he has so become a part of the school that it seems impossible that he should no longer be connected with it. In the capacity in which the students best knew him, as a professor, he was respected and beloved. His sincerity and his earnestness manifested his deep desire to give the best he knew to those whose studies he guided. His lectures above all were inspirational. His abilities as a teacher were widely recognized and the institution was fortunate to be able to enjoy his services as long as it has. Dr. Zinck's appointment as President and Housefather a year ago was very popular with everyone. He was a strict disciplinarian, but everything he did was with the best interests of the students in mind. His own expression of appreciation in his farewell address in chapel on Monday morning thanking the students for their co-operation, was indicative of the existing good will. All will feel sadness at his departure.

The College Cord joins the Board of Governors, the Faculty and the student body in wishing Godspeed to Dr. Zinck in his new field of service. May he always have a warm spot in his heart for Waterloo—his Alma Mater—the school he did so much to develop.

VALEDICTORY

It is usually more pleasant to be at the top of the ladder looking down than to be at the other extreme looking up. The latter was our position not so many months ago, for we had scarcely touched the lowest rung. And today — although we are not so foolish as to believe we have reached the top—we can at least look down and see many a rung left behind in our climb. In other words, we feel that remarkable progress has been made in the year just past. Starting out without a single subscriber the paper now has hundreds of readers. Its pages have been steadily increased to its present size. The material included has also shown a growing excellence. The College Cord has become a real factor, "a tie that binds", in the life of the school. All this is here set forth not as a boast but simply as a retrospect of what has been accomplished, and because it stands as an active witness of those who have unselfishly given their time and labor to its development. The retiring editor wishes to take this opportunity to thank those men who have made the College Cord what it is—without whom it never would have been published—Dean Potter and the members of the staff. To all others who have helped us in our work, we express our deepest gratitude. And finally, we wish also to announce our absolute confidence in the new editor and his associates. Most of these are experienced men, and in their hands, we are sure, the College Cord will safely find its way through every difficulty to a proud place in the circle of College newspapers.

Letters To The Editor

FAREWELL LETTER OF OF BUSINESS MANAGER

I now lay down my office as business manager of the College Cord. I do so with great gratification for what was once a dream has become a reality. Not so long ago, one thought a printed college paper could only be had in years to come, but look, through the faithful labors and pains of the members of its staff and especially its editor, Mr. Karl Klinck, and its faculty adviser Dean Potter, we have today a college paper, a paper of which we must feel proud. Although but four months old, it has developed by leaps and bounds, so that now we have eight pages and a subscription list of 700. As far as the business end of the paper is concerned, I must say it was largely experimental and therefore very important. My work as business manager I found to be difficult at times but by the hearty co-operation of the advertising and circulation managers as well as the entire members of the staff, my task was made easy and pleasant. To the subscribers of this paper I want to express a hearty thanks, and to the business men of the Twin City who have advertised in this paper do I extend a hearty thanks. I hope that you will continue to patronize this paper by subscribing to it and advertising in it so that it will become an outstanding paper in the years to come. To the members of the staff do I wish great success in their work, so that they may continue with such work and help to make the College Cord a paper of papers.

To all do I wish "Good Luck!"

Arthur W. Lotz.

COLLEGE EXAMS. BEGIN ON SATURDAY, JAN. 15

In common with the students of the University at London and the other affiliated schools, Waterloo College students have been refusing dates, spending evenings in their studies and doing other things incidental with preparations for the examinations soon to come. Saturday, January 15, is the date for the first of these and they will continue until the end of the month.

Waterloo students write upon the same papers as do the students at London. These papers are made out at examination conferences at which the professors from the various affiliated schools attend. The conference for the first semester exams this year was held just before Christmas and was the reason for closing college classes a day or two earlier than was announced in the

For the senior class these examinations are of very real importance because a failure or a condition for a re-examination would mean the postponing of that student's degree for a whole year. Of course this is at any time a disaster, but would be especially so for any of the members of the present senior class, all of whom are desirous of being on the first graduating class which will go down to convocation next May.

STUDENT CONFERENCE

great astonishment that my companion had made himself conspicuous by his absence. I therefore had to travel alone and immediately made preparations for such an enterprise by making acquaintances of the different persons I met. There was one outstanding character, a middle aged man who was a typical cockney, a devout American but a great entertainer. I arrived at Madison at 12.45 Wednesday afternoon and after some strange experiences I finally reached my destination. This large religious gathering for college students was held in Luther Memorial Cathedral, which is noted for its short but interesting history. It was built four years ago, mainly through the faithful and energetic work of its pastor, Rev. A. Soldan, D.D.

Upon arriving I discovered that I was a day too early and that is why my friend had not showed up at Galt. That same evening (Wednesday) the Brotherhood Society of Luther Memorial Cathedral held a social, and I had the pleasure of representing Canada at the banquet. To some of the Americans, Canada was a land of snow, ice and reindeers, and they were indeed eager to hear from this land. Although a poor representative of so great a country, I did my utmost to uphold its dignity and I informed them that as far as reindeer were concerned, we have a great many "dears" and sometimes "reign dears" at that.

The following afternoon my intended co-traveller arrived and it was with great gratification that I set my eyes upon a fellow Canadian.

The program of the conference was based on four main topics; namely,

"1. What is the church and what is it for?"

"2. The opportunities and obligations of the Lutheran Church in America.

"3. The Lutheran Student Association of America—what it is, and its relation to other student movements and to other young people's associations in the church.

"4. The opportunities and responsibilities of Lutheran students."

These topics were introduced by addresses given by men distinguished in the Lutheran church such as the Rev. G. A. Brandelle, D.D., L.L.D., president of the Evangelical Lutheran Augustana Synod, the Rev. J. A. Morehead, D.D., L.L.D., D. Theol., executive director of National Lutheran Council and president of the executive committee for continuation of Lutheran world conference, the Rev. William M. Horn, M.A., D.D., resident pastor at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., for past nine years and now president of Ithaca Ministers' Association. Prof. Rajah B. Maniham, Ph.D., a Lutheran Christian from India and professor-elect of the Andhra Christian College which the United Lutheran Church is going to establish in India. The Rev. A. Hering, executive member of Minnesota Inner Mission Society and the Rev. C. S. Sharpe, secretary for students in the Northwest under the Board of Education of Norwegian Lutheran Church. These addresses were followed by the reports of the student commissions who had made a study of church matters. After the commission had reported, the student delegates met in small discussion groups and later merged for open forums during which the "findings" of the groups were presented. Thus the conference not only had the inspirational addresses customarily given at religious convocations but was also directly beneficial to the students, because it gave them an opportunity to discuss church problems among themselves. This informal student-to-student contact proved to be very valuable and broadening.

While at the conference, we were privileged to having a sight seeing trip through Madison. Madison is the seat of the state capital of Wisconsin, having a population of about 25,000 people. It is situated on an isthmus surrounded by small lakes. Besides seeing its beautiful scenery, we had the pleasure to visit the state capitol—a magnificent building situated in the centre of the city. The dome of the capitol cost $3,000,000 and is the second highest in the world. The state university is also in Madison, and these buildings alone prove to be a great asset to the city. Perhaps one of the most outstanding buildings of the university is its library, which is supposed to have the second largest collection of manuscripts in the United States.

The inhabitants of Madison as well as the students at the conference we found to be very sociable, hospitable and indeed very accommodating.

On Sunday afternoon we left this beautiful city and our newly established friends. Our trip from Madison to Chicago was a very interesting one. Accompanied by twenty or more other students we tried to exercise our vocal cords until finally a collection was held. Whether this collection was meant as a hint for us to stop or continue was doubtful, so we took the benefit of the doubt and continued ch nting.

My companion and I stayed in Chicago at Magwood Seminary for the night, being entertained that evening by Dr. Schaefer, dean of the seminary and a former professor of Waterloo College. The following day, after rambling about the big city to see some of its sights, we finally "set sail" for our last lap. We arrived home in our dear Canada and to our respective homes on Tuesday, not as sorry lads but as rejoicing ones. Even after such a

"SWAN SONG" TO A SOPH'S BELIEF IN SANTA CLAUS

An explanation is needed to give the reason for the writing of the poem below which was written by a soph who like a swain disappointed in love says his farewell to Santa Claus. This Soph wrote a letter to Old Nick asking for many things among which was the item—"a large cheque." He hung up his "nothing-but-holed sock" and then "hit the hay" with a misinterpreted idea of Shakespeare's words:

"More things are wrought by prayer
Than this world dreams of."

Next morning he awoke, crept down stairs for fear that he might disturb Santa in the act of trimming the tree should his house be one of the last ones to be visited. Lo and behold when the Soph peeked into his sock from the bottom outlet he had an optical illusion probably caused by his excited state. The soph holds a monologue saying, "Wake up, Harry!" and he accompanies this soliloquy with a pinch, but his range of sight did not increase neither did the intensity with which objects are recorded. Next he peeks through the entrance to the sock (not necessarily the largest entrance into the sock) and his perseverance is rewarded by the sight of a slip of paper. "A cheque, a cheque." He folds up the paper. "Donner und Blitzen"—not a cheque but an ordinary slip of paper on which was written, "Use hole-proof socks."

On speaking with Harry I learned that he no longer believes in Santa but calls him a fake and a fraud having all the "earmarks" of an advertising man or a travelling salesman for the 'Holeproof Sock Company."

Sock — Sock — Sock!
Oh, why did I hang up thee
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts that arise in me.

Oh, well for the rich man's boy
Whom Santa visits each day,

"world of experience" we were again glad to see our dear old friends in the dear old place.

On a whole we found the trip to be very profitable, not only from the benefits derived from the inspiring addresses at the conference, but through personal contact with different students who hailed from all parts of the country, thus apprehending new thoughts and ideas.

Again I want to thank the students for sending me as one of the delegates to this great conference which has afforded me a world of experience.

Germania

The first meeting of the Germania after the Christmas vacation was held on Thursday evening, January 6. Evidently the boys had not got back full swing into the school life as the attendance was very small. Those who sacrificed some other pleasure to attend were rewarded by hearing a good program. The meeting was opened by the singing of "Gaudeamus Igitur." To listen to this number one would have judged the attendance to have been somewhere in the hundreds. This was followed by a reading by L. Hagey '29. A Lotz '27 in his address gave a good example of what benefits a conscientious worker can derive from a society such as the Germania. H. Lossing '28 read a pleasing little German story with a delightful little moral in it. G. Roberts '29 rushed in just in time to come in on the program and presented the assembly with a reading. In giving his criticism, Dr. Schorten commented upon and congratulated the novices upon their progress in the German language and expressed himself as being well pleased by the efforts of the older members. After relating an incident supposed to

College Rink Is In Good Condition

Since the Christmas vacation athletics at our College have been rather dead. This is the effect, the cause is the examination time-table. Far be it from us that we should boast that our student body is so industrious that they have neither time nor thought for anything else than studies from January 4th till the beginning of the second semester, February 1st. On the other hand we hope that none of our readers will go to the other extreme and say that because we spend our time foolishly during the greater part of the semester we need every moment during the last couple of weeks before exams to cram our brains with dates, whys and wherefores, whos and whats, in order that we may guide our pens, during those fatal days, so that the ink will flow in the proper channels and that the course of our study shall not be dammed.

Truly, at this time the major part of the students attention is turned toward knowledge of which he hopes to be able to make good use in the near (very near) future; but some great personage said (not Shakespeare this time), "A sound mind requires a sound body". We realize that some of our interested readers would not be pleased if the dreadful news reached their ears that the students of their favorite College were neglecting to take care of their health in order that they might send home a report generously decorated with "A's". A few words of explanation might give such readers a better night's rest and lessen the chance of indigestion (which is now believed to be the direct result of worry).

When we returned we found that the students who had contracted to transform our tennis courts into a skating rink had, with the assistance of Mother Nature and her son Jack Frost, fairly well fulfilled their contract. After this admirable start had been made our capable work manager, Clayton Haas, took charge of affairs. Clayton has proved to be an efficient manager because he has the ability of getting the greatest possible work done with the last possible effort on the part of Mr. Haas. Atta boy, Clay! Keep up the good work.

Because the rink is in good condition our hockey team stands a better chance of getting into condition and we believe that they are making good use of this opportunity, for nearly everyday they find time to do their daily dozen rounds of puckering on the ice. Go to it! We'll give Mamma Western a surprise when she meets us at home.

The basketball has not been kept quite as busy as the puck and this also shows results, for when we played a practice game with the K. and W. Collegiate last week, the High School boys travelled too fast for the College crew and also proved themselves more capable of slipping the ball through the hoops. Yes, we have much to learn at that game and its never too soon to begin.

Now we hope that the minds, of those who might worry because of the first statement about athletics being dead, may be somewhat eased and may be assured that the exams are not too detrimental to our physical condition. For after the first of February these weeks of preparation will be beneficial when we meet our opponents in the realm of sport, and we hope that they will prove to be equally helpful when we meet our parents with the exam results.

GENEROUS DONATION OF Y.M.C.A. TICKETS TO WATERLOO STUDENTS

A very fine opportunity has been given to eleven boys of the College. This opportunity came in the form of a donation of eleven Y.M.C.A. membership tickets given by Mr. Valentine of Valentine & Martin Limited. Mr. Valentine has made similar donations to the College in previous years.

A Y.M.C.A. membership is very beneficial to a Waterloo College student, for even though we have a fairly well equipped gymnasium, the "Y" gym because of its size and more complete equipment, including an indoor track, has some advantage over our smaller gym. There are other features which these memberships enable the students to use, such as—the swimming pool and various organizations. The Y gives a student the opportunity of fellowship with young men who are living in the Twin Cities and in this way helps him to become better acquainted in the city where he is spending the greater part of the year.

The College wishes to express its appreciation to Mr. Valentine for his donation and hopes that the students who were fortunate enough to benefit by this donation will make the best possible use of their Y memberships.

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID TO REV. E. NEUDOERFFER'S WORK IN INDIA

The following words of appreciation to be found in the minutes of the council of the India Mission of the U.L.C.A. are eloquent of Rev. E. Neudoerffer's work in India.

"Rev. Mr. Neudoerffer has proved himself a spiritual man, a man of prayer, study and meditation. He was a diligent student and searcher after light but was firm and grounded in his Christian faith, in his convictions, and in his devotion to the truths of the church.

He was an indefatigable worker and accomplished what few others could have done. He never spared himself nor shrank from any hardship but willingly undertook any task laid upon him. Although he already had the extensive and difficult work in the Bhimavaram field as his charge, yet, when asked to look after the forsaken mission field in Jeypore, he willingly agreed.

Though to a large extent a mystic, yet he possessed more than ordinary talent for organization and practical projects. The Bhimavaram high school, and his work in Jeypore, Rangoon, Bhimavaram and other

SPORT NOTES

The practice basketball game against the K.-W. Collegiate certainly showed that more attention will have to be paid to this game by Waterloo College. There are, no doubt, many good players in the school, but if team play is not developed, and the proper enthusiasm to come out and practice is not stirred up, nothing much can be done.

Another College team is to play an exhibition game against the Collegiate when the fast travelling College hockey team meets the K.-W. sextet at the Auditorium on Thursday afternoon. Unfortunately this paper will have gone to the press before that time and no account can be given.

The hockey manager has also been busy getting "a line" on other games to be played before long. It is quite probable that the College will meet the Holy Name Society Senior team of Kitchener some time next week. A game with St. John's Lutherans of Waterloo is also being arranged.

STUDENTS SEEK TO CHANGE EXAM. DATE

Such Is Heading In London Paper Regarding Western's Exams

In view of the fact that Waterloo College students write the same examinations as do the students of University College in London, the following extract from the London Free Press of Tuesday, January 11, 1927, will be of interest:

With the Christmas examinations just four days distant the annual controversy at the University of Western Ontario has again begun among the student body regarding the wisdom of conducting full term examinations following the Christmas holidays. Although no definite announcements have been made it is altogether likely that some action to learn the feeling of the students of the school will be taken. Such action will take the form of discussion at the Students' Administrative Assembly or of a petition circulated throughout the school.

Western, it is pointed out, is the only institution of higher learning in Canada at which fall term examinations are not conducted at the close of the term and just prior to the Christmas holidays. The advantage of holding them before Christmas, according to the arguments of those who are opposed to the current custom, are many and plain. Students, they say, do not study during the holiday season as is popularly believed. Even the most conscientious do not give the attention to their subjects that is required, whereas before Christmas class work and lectures can be carried on right up until the day before the examination, giving ample opportunity for thorough going-over of the work. Furthermore, they state the post-Christmas examinations make a cut in the spring term that is felt for the remainder of the year. And last, but not least, the ever-present shadow of impending examinations throughout the usually gay season at Christmas is anything but conducive of the spirit of the time.

Popular opinion at the school seems to be against the present custom, although no radical action has been proposed. In the main it seems to be a question as to where, when and for what reasons the examinations were held after Christmas for the first time. The feeling against the custom, however, at present only awaits the leadership of some doughty soul who will brave the wrath of the powers that be to present some application for amendment.

Character is like bells which ring at sweet music, and which when touched accidentally, even resound with sweet music.

Back Again

After two weeks of utter silence the top floor is again echoing with the familiar voices of the Collegians.

From all appearances everyone was quite satisfied with their holiday experiences. The only exception reported was that W. Mogk was quite disappointed in Santa Claus for not complying with his wish for a nice teddy-bear that would say: "Pass the gravy please".

Laury Literary Society

On Tuesday, Jan. 4th, a regular meeting of the Laury Literary Society was held with the vice-president in charge.

The programme was made up of impromptu speeches and recitations. The numbers were: recitations by A. Imrie, C. Laing, O. Treusch, and W. Nolting and speeches by F. Janzen, E. Schroeder, H. Berner and L. Herman. Dr. Willison in his remarks of criticism stated that, with the exception of one or two recitations the selections were well rendered.

Hockey

When the students returned to continue with their knowledge seeking they were overjoyed to see that a glistening sheet of ice was waiting for them.

This year's hockey prospects are very bright. The junior team which is playing for the College School has an exceptionally good outlook with H. Snyder, R. Kelterborn, H. Little, H. MacIntosh, Quackenbush and A. Imrie trying out for forwards; J. Knorr, N. Knapp and E. Schroeder for the defence and O. Treusch and E. MacIntosh for the goal position.

fields bear eloquent testimony to this fact.

In his private and social life he was humble, frank, true and gentle. He was especially kind and sympathetic to the young, the weak and to the inexperienced. The young missionary newly arrived and seeking help and enlightenment, found in him a sympathetic adviser and friend. But especially were the Indians attracted by him as a man of prayer, a spiritual father and a brother who was concerned for their welfare and labored disinterestedly in their behalf. Few have received such eloquent tokens of love and esteem as M. Neudoerffer received from the Indian church at the time of the 25th anniversary of his service as a missionary in India.

We regret that he has left this field of work for which he seemed so well fitted, but wish him God's richest blessings and a fruitful career in his newly chosen vocation.

The Rev. A. A. Zinck, B.A., D.D., is a native of Nova Scotia. He graduated from Dalhousie University in 1915 and the same year entered Waterloo Seminary, from which school he graduated in 1918. While a student at the seminary Dr. Zinck also acted as instructor in the High school department. After serving the Lutheran church in Brantford, he returned to Waterloo as professor in Waterloo College school. A few years later he transferred to the Seminary Faculty, where he became Professor of Homiletics and English Bible. Upon the formation of Waterloo College in 1924, in addition to his duties as professor in the seminary, he assumed the duties of Associate Professor of Philosophy and of Religious Knowledge in the college. When Waterloo College affiliated with the University of Western Ontario, Dr. Zinck was elected a member of the Senate of the University. Upon Dr. Hoffman's resignation as president of the seminary, Dr. Zinck was called to that position and on January 1, 1926, he became president of the Evangelical Lutheran Seminary of Canada. Dr. Zinck has been very active in the work of the Canada Synod. He is English secretary of the synod and a member of the executive and other committees. He was one of the delegates to the biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in Richmond, Virginia. Dr. Zinck holds the following degrees: B.A., Dalhousie 1915; B.D., Chicago Lutheran Seminary 1922; S.T.M., ibid 1923; D.D., ibid 1925.

The Rev. E. E. Neudoerffer, B.D., the new House Father and Chaplain, was born in Brazil whilst his father had charge of the Diaspora work. When still quite young he was brought to Canada by his parents. He received his early education in the public schools of Grey county and his college and theological training at Wagner Memorial College and Mount Airy Seminary. Upon graduation from the latter institution he entered the foreign mission field going to India in 1900. There he served as missionary, professor, principal of a mission high school, founder and dean of a theological seminary, president of the India Synod, and just prior to his acceptance of a call to Waterloo Seminary he had been appointed professor in the United Lutheran Seminary at Madras. In the summer of 1926 he accepted a call to be professor of Church History at the seminary. Accompanied by his wife and family he arrived at Waterloo the latter part of October and assumed his duties immediately. Rev. Prof. Neudoerffer pursued post-graduate studies at Mount Airy Seminary in 1921 and 1922 and received the degree of B.D. from that institution.

Alumni News

Rev. F. L. Howald, B.D., S.T.M.,
New Dundee, Editor.

We deeply regret the sad event in the parsonage of our Windsor church (Rev. H. Schildroth, Sem. '24, pastor) when the parents buried their new born boy. Every alumnus sympathizes with the brother and his beloved wife. May God comfort their sad hearts.

News from the "Soo." Rev. S. Cooper, Sem. '20, has spent one happy year with his family in the mission congregation at Sault Ste. Marie. A brief review of this encouraging field can be given. The publishing of a monthly church paper, "Zion Lutheran Herald," on December 5 marked the close of his first year with Zion congregation. On December 3 the church was dedicated at which service Dr. Seibert and the President of our Synod, Rev. J. Reble (Hamilton), preached. One of the messages received was from our first seminary graduate Rev. N. Willison, Sem '14, who was instrumental in organizing this mission. The church council and pastor have planned an Every Member Canvass, so that within the course of one year the remaining debt of $1200 is to be erased. All hopes are entertained that such will be the outcome. Individual donations have made possible such remarkable progress. There are few if any of our missions in the Synod which can report any such forward strides. It was thru Divine Providence that our church opened this mission "on time." With all conditions favorable this congregation will need little synodical support in two years. Thru this column the brethren surely say to the brother of the North and his congregation, "A Blessed and Happy New Year."

An account of the death of Mrs. E. Fischer, wife of Rev. E. Fischer, Sem. '24, of Gadshill, Ont., is reported elsewhere in this paper. The deepest sympathies of all are assured the sorrowing husband in his bereavement.

Seminary News

Seminary classes were resumed on January 4th with most of the students being present on the opening day. After such a lengthy vacation as they had, it was hard for them to settle down to work, but with the examinations ahead of them, they are again working as hard as ever.

On Sunday, January 9, Student Bald Sem. '27 had charge of the services at Unionville, while Student Mehlenbacher also of '27 held the services at Guelph.

News and Notes

The Rev. Prof. H. Schorten, D.D., announces the engagement of his eldest daughter, Jean Emilie, to Mr. John Gordon Motheral of Waterloo, a son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Motheral of Waterloo. The marriage will take place in June.

Since coming to Waterloo from Listowel in 1923, Miss Schorten has been very popular in College and local circles. There has scarcely been a program or concert of note conducted at the institution to which she has not contributed materially. She has always been ready to do anything for the welfare of the school and her charm and pleasant manner have endeared her to all. Miss Schorten is an active member of St. Matthew's church, Kitchener. She is soprano soloist in the choir and for two years she was vice president of the Young People's Society. She also served three years as general secretary of the Jugenbund of the Canada Synod.

Rev. J. Maurer, D.D., vice president of the Canada Synod, who was elected to the Board of American Missions at the biennial convention at Richmond, attended a re-organization meeting of the missions boards at which one new board was formed by the amalgamation of five old ones. The meeting was held at Philadelphia on Tuesday, December 28. The newly-created board was then subdivided into five committees corresponding to the former separate departments, i.e., English Home Mission Committee; Jewish Mission Committee, Inner Mission Committee, West Indies Mission Committee, and the South American Mission Committee. These will have charge of the mission work of America. Dr. Maurer was appointed to the English Home Mission Committee.

Rev. J. Reble, president of the Canada Synod, attended a conference of the committee on German interests in the United Lutheran Church at Philadelphia.

Dr. and Mrs. Zinck spent the Christmas vacation with the latter's parents in Pittsburg.

Rev. E. Neudoerffer attended the meeting of the Foreign Mission Board at Baltimore.

The services at the north ward mission on January 9 were conducted by Rev. S. W. Hirtle.

Student Arthur Mehlenbacher of the senior seminary class attended the International Conference of the Lutheran Student Association of America held at Madison, Wis.

great familiarity with the different members of the faculty—just whether that familiarity was of a pleasant or unpleasant nature he did not say, but it was likely a mixture of both.

The first professor in the dream was Professor Holm who reminded him of Moses because of the long beard (he didn't say anything about Santa Claus). Then there was Linke the great exponent of Hebrew—truly he must have been Professor's Henkel's greatest rival. Dr. Dehn, the dapper gentleman of Russia liked the girls and also bicycle riding, in fact he liked his bicycle so much he used to keep it in his class room. Dr. Lange of Vienna could always interest his classes in talking about the bull fights in Mexico. Rev. Crawford was the champion of Waterloo for marble rolling. Dr. Zinck reminds us of Student Bald because of his size both up and in circumference. Dr. Hoffman, the most wonderful character that has ever graced the class rooms of the institution, appeared next in the dream. He was a gentleman and scholar of the highest order, a man who understood the boys and who in turn understood him. Such a feeling is necessary between students and professors in order to have successful co-operation between the two. Dr. Hoffman inspired many of the boys to enter the ministry and thus prepare themselves for the noblest work mortal can do. He had a great personality which will never die but forever remain in the hearts of all those who came in contact with him. Arthur's greatest hope is that some day he can dictate notes to Dr. Little, the next in line. Then comes Dr. Willison, the Longfellow of Waterloo College, yes, Longfellow in more ways than one. Rev. Henkel, our great librarian and Hebrew instructor whose only hobby is a horse. Rev. Henkel often indulges in the great muscle-building exercise, that of jumping up and down and throwing books on the floor, especially in the class room. Then comes our worthy dean, Dr. Potter who made affiliation with the University of Western Ontario possible. Arthur says Dr. Potter when coming down the halls always reminds him of the army, especially the kettle drum effect Dr. Potter's heels make on the floors. Nevertheless Dr. Potter is never without his smile and greeting to all the students and professors. He is a great entertainer and loves to twiddle his thumb especially when talking about points in psychology. Then comes Rev. E. Neudoerffer, lately come from India where he worked as a missionary. Being new to the students, they know very little about him, but time will tell. Now we have Prof. R. Hirtel called Gony by some of the boys because he likes to talk about the use of a goniometer. His brother, Rev. S. Hirtel, is chiefly known for the phrase, "As a parting shot I will give the whole class three demerits." Then Dr. Schorten popular for his sunny smile and kindly disposition. Last but not least we have Mr. Seltzer and Mr. Nickel, they being great pals are chiefly known as "A Nickel's Worth of Bromo Seltzer." During the past years many changes have been made for men must come and men must go but work at the school goes on forever.

Mr. Nickel very wittily replied to this toast. He spoke about the many recent developments in the three departments and also about the feeling of good will and harmony between the faculties and the students.

The college quartet then gave some very pleasing selections chiefly of old time songs which were excellent in stirring up old memories, Baetz, Keffer, Miscb and Schweitzer, members of the quartet, must be congratulated upon their singing.

Mr. Schweitzer then gave a toast to the ladies. He gave some very delightful jokes on various members of the club. He being more or less of a ladies' man very ably filled his position. He praised the mothers, sweethearts and especially the Ladies' Auxillary who each year have made the banquet a possibility.

Gerald Hagey responded to this toast because he has often taken the part of girls before. If he should

Prof: "Now that I am going to set the exam., are there any questions you would like to have on the paper?"

Student: "No, sir!"

Long Felt Want

"Yes, I'm looking for a baker. Have you had any experience?"

Student: "Well, I've needed dough for four years."

"Sam, I'll give you a pint of Scotch if you'll hurry over to my house and get my grip, now! What? Haven't you gone yet?"

"Gone? Boss, I's back!"

"Children," said the teacher, "be diligent and steadfast, and you will succeed. Take the case of George Washington. Do you remember my telling you of the great difficulty George Washington had to contend with?"

"Yes, ma'am," said a little boy. "He couldn't tell a lie."

That's So

"What do you get if you don't boil your drinking water?" asked the teacher.

"Typhoid fever," replied Johnnie.

"And when you boil your water?" began the teacher.

"Soup," chorused the bright youngsters.

ever get married he had better not take their part too often. He tried to tell us that there are two ways by which women fall in love with men. (1) The way to a man's heart is through his stomach. (2) The way to a man's stomach is through his lips. But as he said many go directly to a man's heart through the lips without getting near to the stomach.

Student Haak then gave several selections on his accordion. The old German selections he played enraptured the members, especially Sauerzweig and Zbinden, both having lately come from Germany. The college quartet then gave another selection, the famous old Christmas song, "Silent Night, Holy Night."

The banquet then closed with the singing of God Save the King.

Truly this Boarding Club banquet was the best ever held and many good ones have been held during the past years. Its success is largely due to the able executive and those who took part in the programme and especially to the Ladies' Auxillary who supplied the geese.
