GOOD PROGRAM AT SECOND GERMANIA MEETING

Absent Members Miss A Real Treat

The second meeting of the Germania for the second semester was held on Thursday evening, March 10, with the usual number of members present. A number of students have been missing some good programs and it is hoped that they will soon realize what they are missing and pay the Germania a visit. On Thursday evening a fine program was again rendered.

Harry Baetz in a free and easy language spoke on "Freude." Harry has the makings of a good German speaker and we hope to hear another of his excellent speeches in the near future. Norman Keffer gave a reading of "Musik." Herbert Kalbfleisch also a fluent speaker in the German language, gave the life of Heine, the German poet. Harold Ruppel recited in excellent style that wellknown poem, "Die Zwei Grenadiere."

Dr. H. Schorten, acting in the capacity of critic, expressed himself as well pleased with the program. Because of the length of the program the singing of "Studenten Lieder" was omitted.

COLLEGE PROFESSOR STRICKEN SUDDENLY

Dr. N. Willison Undergoes
Operation For Appendicitis

The entire College community was shocked to learn of the sudden illness of Rev. Prof. N. Willison, Litt. D. Last spring while at Queens University, Dr. Willison suffered a severe illness, but he appeared to have recovered entirely from the effects of it. This year, in spite of a very heavy College program as Professor of English, Registrar, Honorary President of the literary societies and with additional work as Editor of the Canada Lutheran, Dr. Willison seemed to continue in the best of health. However, Wednesday evening he began to suffer acute pains, he was rushed to the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital and after a consultation an immediate operation for appendicitis was deemed necessary. Dr. Willison was operated about four o'clock Thursday morning. By seven o'clock he had come out of the anesthetic and an early bulletin, indicating his condition as satisfactory was issued. Since then daily bulletins have been

DEAN POTTER SPEAKS IN BRANTFORD

Church Organization Addressed By Waterloo Professor

The energetic Dean paid a flying visit to Brantford on Friday March 4, to speak at the Annual Banquet of the Young Men's Class of Central Church.

In his pleasing and effective manner Dr. Potter discussed the topic of Canada and her government. Although the subject was by no means light the timely jokes of the speaker held the undivided attention of his audience throughout the entire speech.

On the conclusion of the program Dean Potter was warmly congratulated and also was extended the invitation to return again on some future date to speak to the same organization.

While in Brantford Dean Potter was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Laing formerly of Kitchener.

posted reporting his progress as very satisfactory. The united and individual prayers of the faculty and students are being offered for a speedy and sure recovery of Dr. Willison.

The following arrangements have been made for conducting Dr. Willison's courses: Rev. Prof. C. Foreman, Instructor in English, will conduct the course in English 10 and Rev. Prof. Seward Hirtle will teach the courses in English 12 and 22 for the remainder of this scholastic year. Dean Potter will lecture in History 43. The College has been fortunate in securing Dr. Martin of

ASH WEDNESDAY OBSERVED BY SPECIAL SERVICE

Dr. C. H. Little Delivers Short Sermon.

"Behold we go up to Jerusalem" was the text of Dr. C. Little's sermonette at the special chapel service held on Ash Wednesday in the Seminary Chapel.

The journey to Jerusalem was a momentous one for Jesus. He was going to a city where he had often been and where he delighted in going. But never before had he spoken in such a solemn voice. Why was it so solemn? Because of the things that awaited Him there. He realized what it meant to Him. In his omnipotent eye He could see the betrayal of Judas, the scoffings at the hands of Pilot and His crucifixion. On the other hand the pleadings of His disciples could not take Him from His purpose—the fulfillment of the Scriptures, the

SPECIAL VISITING DAY SATURDAY APRIL 2

Physical Demonstration Will Be Given By Students.

Last May our boys gave an exhibition of some physical work in the College gymnasium as an afternoon program for the visiting day.

This year on the coming visiting day, which is Saturday afternoon, April 2, the boys are going to give a similar program for an hour, starting at 3.15. The program will consist of drills, human pyramids, apparatus work and some musical numbers. After the entertainment lunch will be served to the visitors by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

We hope that as many as possible who are, or should be, interested in the College and Seminary will avail themselves of this opportunity to become better acquainted with the students and the institution. A special invitation is extended to the members of the Lutheran Churches in Waterloo and Kitchener as well as the surrounding district.

Don't forget—Saturday, April 2, at 3.15 p.m. Make this visiting day the biggest and best yet.

Cagers Won Fourth Consecutive Game When They Defeated Toronto Team Last Saturday At Y.

When the news leaked out that the College was up against a team which had three players from the Toronto senior league, the hopes of the supporters of the Gold and Maroon dropped several points.

Not so however with the team as they were out to bring back the fourth consecutive win. Without any exaggeration the game was one of the fastest ever played by the school. The defence stood out like a free lunch counter in Scotland and the forwards uncorked a barrel of speed which would have done credit to Ralph de Palma. The result of the game left no doubt in the minds of the spectators that the school should next season enter the O.A. B.A. The game by periods:

First Period

The ball was faced off with "Mike" beating Munroe on the jump. L. Hagey took the tip passed to G. Hagey and back again to Mike for the first basket. The play was performed again for the benefit of the opposition with L. Hagey on the scoring end. Then G. Hagey decided to slip in the third field basket on a nice combination with Mike. "Zowie!" One minute gone and the score 6 to 0 for the College.

At this stage the Toronto defence stiffened with Bryce playing an excellent defensive game. Faber, the Broadview senior, then worked under the basket and sunk the opposition's first goal.

The College came back with L. Hagey potting another field goal. The Toronto boys were making desperate efforts but the "Scotch" defence of Bretzlaff and Baetz was too tight to allow them much clear opportunity to score.

The condition of our team was not as good as that of the visitors but the timely interspersing of a two minute rest period relieved the strain. The Forsyth-Bryce-Munroe combination towards the end of the first period displayed a class of ball handling and combination which has seldom been seen in this district. However their scoring punch was lacking and the College was able to maintain a safe lead of six points at the end of the half. Score 16 to 10.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

As the school year is drawing to a close, it is meet and fitting that the students should consider seriously what line of employment they intend to follow during the summer vacation. With most of our students it is a necessity that they engage in some line of manual or mental labor in order to replenish the depleted state of their finances; to those who do not find it a necessity we would suggest that they engage in some form of work in order to gain the practical experience of being under an employer's direction. However in every circumstance we should ask ourselves the question. "What is to be the purpose of my employment?" Perhaps it is only to put in time. In that case it does not matter much what line of employment we choose. Perhaps it is our purpose to engage in employment yielding the largest returns. In that case we dare not be too particular in our tastes and besides we must be ready to give an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. The summer vacation should be to the real student a splendid opportunity for gaining practical experience. He can engage in enough scholastic work during the year and during the vacation he should apply his book-learned knowledge. He should put his theories to the test and if possible verify them. No student should be so lazy as to fritter away his time aimlessly during the vacation and come back to the opening of the winter session with the same narrow ideas and without his outlook on life changed in any manner. Therefore get busy, think, plan, and when the time comes, act.

OUR CAMPUS

Are we anticipating enough for the future? We have an eleven acre campus and one main building and a number of residences. If Waterloo College is permitted to develop and serve its constituency to its full capacity it will require more buildings. Should that time not be anticipated and plans of a future campus made with that view?

Supposing this had been done when our present building was erected. It might have been placed in its present position but facing King St. Then there would have been place for an athletic field at the back. A very pretty entrance with a drive running from King St. to the College made, and places spotted for Arts and Science buildings, a Chapel and a Library. But this is looking at the past and although we learn by the experience of the past we must look ahead.

There may be a plan in our records for a time when we will have more buildings on our campus. If there is not, there should be. What is now the rear of our campus must some day be used for other buildings. There are men who make a special business of drawing College Campus plans. Money paid to an expert for this purpose would be well placed and those here in the future would be thankful to the men of to-day who wisely looked and planned ahead.

Comments

The article "Choosing a Vocation" which appears in this issue is a donation from the Rev. Professor C. H. Little B.A., D.D., Professor of Dogmatics in the Evangelical Lutheran Seminary and Lecturer in Religious Knowledge in Waterloo College. It is our intention to secure contributions of this nature from prominent men in our constituency for future issues. Read these articles, you will enjoy them!

We think it would be in accordance with the rules of courtesy and ordinary common-sense if owners of cars and other motor vehicles would desist from parking or driving over the front campus. Use the driveway and spare the campus!

The students and faculty are observing Lent by the use of special services for morning and evening chapel as provided for in the Common Service Book of the Lutheran Church for the Lenten season. Our Chapel is, however, not provided with hymnal boards adequate to post these special services and some individual or organization could render the chapel a service by signifying their willingness to donate such boards. Anyone wishing to make such a contribution should communicate with the Chaplain, Rev. Prof. E. Neudoerffer.

NOTE

We are sorry that an error crept into Dr. Willison's biography. In 1924 Carthage College recognized his achievements by conferring the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature upon him and in 1926 Queen's University conferred the degree of B.A. on him.

THE PERFECT PROFESSOR

How do you like the alliteration? Doesn't it immediately attract you?

First of all the perfect professor should be a recognized authority in his line. He should be a mile ahead of the students in his subject, rather than six inches, which is a more usual occurrence.

Secondly, he should have a perfect method of teaching, call it pedagogy if you wish. He should present the material in such a way that it will provoke the student, or rather the young man in the class to become a student.

Thirdly, he should display an equal amount of interest in all his students, favoritism is an evil in any school. Perhaps a heart-to-heart talk with the weaker members of the class would provoke some of the latent powers into action. The man who draws an A in the course is usually able to hold his own without being petted by the professor.

Now no doubt this would be an ideal state and therefore a theoretic-

CHOOSING A VOCATION

If I were as young now as I used to be, I would probably head this article "Choosing a Calling," and preserve the beautiful alliteration; but after some mature consideration I have decided upon the term "Vocation" as being more objective. It is also more sonorous and has more attractive associations; for if you change only one letter of this word you have "vacation"—a word that summons up all sorts of pleasing prospects for release from that weary grind of life that proverbially "makes Jack a dull boy." But vacation implies vocation. There is no rest for the idler any more than there is peace for the wicked. A real vacation is a recreation for the purpose of gaining courage and strength for the faithful and energetic pursuit of one's vocation.

Now the young men of our institution, in Seminary College, and College School, I am sure, do not want to be drones in the busy hive of life. They are full of that mysterious thing which we call life, which is a mystery so great that no scientist has ever been able to fathom it, or to tell us just what it is. Our young men are filled with earnestness, enthusiasm, and ambition. They want to make the most of life with all its possibilities and powers, with which God has endowed them. It becomes therefore a solemnly serious matter with them to choose a proper vocation. Here ideals, with which youth is so full, should govern. If you hitch your wagon to a star you will travel further and soar higher than if you hitch it to this mundane sphere. The trouble here is the spirit of the age, which is materialistic to the highest degree. That root of all evil, the love of money, looms so large on the mental horizon that many are blinded to the higher yearnings and aspirations of the immortal soul, with which every young man is endowed. "Get money, honestly if you can; but get it in any case," is the world's slogan today. And in its pursuit many make shipwreck of their faith and pierce themselves through with many sorrows. It is all right to make money—we like to have a little of it ourselves—but to set the making of money as the chief aim of life is to set for ourselves a very low and unsatisfactory ideal. I should be sorry indeed to see any young man among our students deliberately throw away his chances of usefulness in this life merely in order that he might make money for himself. Let us exclude therefore, the monetary pull as a mere side-issue in the decisive question as to what our life-work shall be. A life of ease should also not be the ideal of a red-blooded young man. It may be all right for the superannuated and for the man who has reached his dotage; but it offers a sorry standard for the capable, alert young man of sanae mentis in corpore sano. He has no ambition to compete with the jelly-fish or the oyster. Soft snaps should be wholly taboo among our young men. Pleasure is the privilege of youth, and no one begrudges it to them; but to spend one's life as a butterfly or he-flapper is no vocation at all, but it a frivolous frittering away of talents meant to be usefully employed. I take it that our young men are earnest and serious and that they do not want to be carried off their feet by the pleasure-mad moving-picture-show, dance-hall spirit of the age. They want to be useful as well as ornamental, and to add to the sum-total of human accomplishment. But how are they, in their inexperience, to decide on so important a matter as their life work? Now we cannot decide this matter for them or indicate in each individual case what vocation should be chosen. We can only counsel and advise, and lay down principles for their guidance. Now in the first place the young men whom we have in mind are Christians. They are also, in our Waterloo institution, being trained along Christian lines. This is a factor that ought not to be lost sight of by any young man when he is deliberating concerning his future career. Baptized in the name of the Triune God and having adopted God's will as his own will, the first question that he should put to himself is, What would my Lord, whose I am and whom I serve, have me to do with my life? This should be his first consideration, whether he desires to enter into the ministry or not. It is a mistake to assume that the ministry alone has a monopoly of the so-called inner call. No Christian should approach to important a crisis in his life as the choice of a vocation without the conviction in his heart that this is the life-work in which his Lord would have him engage. God has brought us into the world primarily that we might manifest His glory, and secondarily that we might benefit our fellowmen. Where and how can I serve God best, and in serving Him serve my fellowmen? That is the first great, earnest, serious question that should confront the inquirer. This question should be studied in the light of God's Word, and should be taken to Him in prayer and in the spirit of the little Samuel, "Speak, Lord; for Thy servant heareth." Another question that should follow is one that pertains to our own natural and acquired qualifications. What are my mental and physical abilities, and for what do they fit me best? While any honest occupation is honourable, every one should seek that vocation for which he is best fitted, and in which he can be of the greatest service to the University of Western Ontario to carry the work in English 11, English 21, English 30, English 31, English 40, 41, and History 30. Dr. Martin, who is Assistant Professor of English at London received his B. A. degree from the University of Western Ontario in 1916 and his M. A. from the same institution in 1920. He continued his post-graduate work at Cornell, receiving the degree of Ph. D. in 1925. For some years Dr. Martin lectured at New York University; for the past few years he has been connected with the University of Western Ontario.

Dr. Martin will spend Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week at Waterloo. He will live in the dormitory and in his spare moments will be glad to become personally acquainted with the students.

A tentative time table, showing the alterations in lecture periods, came into effect Monday, March 14.

God and man. Here one should seek the counsel and advice of those whom he honours and respects and in whose judgment he has confidence—particularly his godly parents, his teachers, and his pastor. Remembering that he is to pass through this world but once, he should give due consideration to that vocation the influences and effects of which outlast time—the Holy Gospel Ministry. This should not be lightly set aside. But if you finally decide that this is not for you, choose another vocation in the firm conviction that this is God's will for you, and let the light of your Christian influence shine in it. But be sure that you make no mistake. Divorces are as disreputable here as elsewhere; and to be a misfit in any vocation can bring nothing but misery, unhappiness and failure. God wants Christian ministers to convey to the world the unsearchable riches of Christ. If you are convinced that He desires you in this highest and noblest of all callings, do not put away from you this golden opportunity, but thank God for the glorious privilege. But God also wants and the world needs, trained and educated laymen, who as Christian physicians, Christian lawyers, Christian teachers, etc., shall exemplify in their lives and their unselfish ministrations the Gospel of Jesus Christ the Lord. These too may glorify God and serve their fellowmen well. In whatever vocation you serve remember the words of St. Paul: "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

CALLED

Mr. G. Ernst, a member of the Seminary class of '27, has received a call from Sherwood and Unionville to become the pastor of that church.

Mr. Ernst came to Waterloo five years ago from Mahone Bay, Nova Scotia. Here he finished his College course and will this year complete his Seminary work. Mr. Ernst is a talented young man who has many natural gifts. His acceptance of the call will create new interest in the hearts of the people to whom he is called to minister. Mr. Ernst will take charge sometime in July. We wish him a happy and blessed ministry.

Mr. A. Mehlenbacher has received and accepted a call to St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Guelph.

The pulpit supply work for the past two weeks has been conducted as follows:

At Guelph March 6, A Mehlenbacher; March 13, Professor Neu-doerffer.

At Sherwood and Unionville, March 6, G. Ernst; March 13, M. Keffer.

MISSIONARY ACTIVITIES

The Cosman Hayunga Missionary Society held a service at Sherwood and Unionville on the 13th of March. Mr. N. Keffer, a student from that parish, conducted the services. It was the first service which our society has had in that community. We take this means of thanking them and trust that the same privileges will be granted to us in the future.

We feel that there are many more places we could reach. Ours is the old evangelical message which we would bring to you. Will you not consider giving us a service?

"Virtue is like precious odors, most fragrant when it is crushed."

"A black skin often conceals a white soul."

CONFESSION LIGHTENS THE HEART

In Ethics class a discussion arose as to which sex had the greater aesthetic sense. Professor H., looking over the class: "I'll not use you as an example Bald, as I haven't seen your choice as yet."

Interested Student to Professor: "Aesthetically she is very fine."

Bald (with characteristic explosive eagerness): "Well! that just goes to prove my statement. If her sense of beauty was developed more than mine, she would never have fallen for me."

Alumni News

Rev. F. T. Howald, S.T.M.
New Dundee, Editor

It was with regret that the Canada Synod learned of the death of Rev. H. Rembe Sr. The Alumni extend their heartfelt sympathy to Brother H. Rembe, Lit. B.S., of Zurich, Ont., for the loss of his father. May the Heavenly Father comfort him and his family in their mourning!

We congratulate Rev. W. A. Schmidt, Sem. '26 Humberstone, Ont. on having a parish paper in his congregation. It contains many interesting and important items of pastoral and congregational work noting an increase in membership and activity in its organization. Also the activity of Brother Schmidt who made eight hundred and thirty-nine pastoral calls in 1926. Let more of the Brethren send such and other news item, which are always encouraging.

Another Alumni is soon to leave our midst to go to a "far off country", United States,—he is the Rev. C. F. Christiansen Sem. '15 Toronto, Ont. We are glad that we are able to give a brief biographical sketch of him. He graduated with Dr. Kasdorff 1915 and was ordained at Berlin (now Kitchener) May 3, of the same year by the Canada Synod. He accepted the call to one of the most difficult mission fields in our Synod, the Denbigh parish, which he served faithfully for about five years. In the fall of 1920 he was called to First Lutheran Church, Toronto, as successor to Dr. E. Hoffmann, who was called from the Presidency of our Alma Mater to his heavenly home about one year ago. Brother Christiansen has served this Toronto Church faithfully and played an active part in the merger negotiations with St. Paul's Lutheran Church, also of Toronto. A unanimous call came to him from St. John's Church, Johnsonburg, Pennsylvania (Pittsburg Synod) in January of this year. Owing to the merging of his congregation he accepted this call and his resignation takes effect March 31. He was also active in our Synod, serving as a member of the Merger Committee of the two synods, a member of the German Home Mission Committee and secretary of the Alumni organization in 1926.

We deeply regret his departure and emigration. He is the second graduate to leave Canada in 1927. However, we feel that our loss will be another's gain. We ask him not to forget this column and wish him Godspeed.

BASKETBALL TRIUMPH

Waterloo College Defeats Baptists 29 to 16.

The Waterloo College basketball team defeated the Benton Baptist team by a score of 29 to 16 in the "Y" gym on Saturday night.

The College team started off with a rush, scoring several baskets in quick succession. Heckendorn scored several points in this period. The opposing team played a cool game, but they were unable to recover from the first attack and at the end of the period the score stood 22 to 4 for the school.

In the second half the splendid combination and good working order of the team kept the score in about the same ratio. Gradually the Baptist team began picking up and scoring basket after basket while the College team appeared to be satisfied with their safe margin. Then Hagey potted several baskets but luck seemed to be with the opposing team. The score crept up to 27 to 12 with only a few minutes to play. Both teams put up a final rally but the early lead of the school stood them in good stead. Here and there fallen players were scattered over the floor. When time was called the score stood 29 to 16.

Hagey and Heckendorn were on in their shooting. Bretzlaff, Baetz and Stoskopf did brilliant combination work and Orth, though slightly off his usual form, proved very effective in the general scrimmage.

Lineups:

Benton Baptists: Forwards, Roehrig, Boehmer; centre, Richardson; defence, Carter, Vaughan, Schutty.

Waterloo College: Forwards, Heckendorn, Hagey, Orth; centre, Stoskopf; defence, Bretzlaff, Baetz.

Referee, Ferrie; umpire "Beef" Lichty.

THIRD STRAIGHT WIN FOR CAGERS

College Has A Spirited Battle With Y's Men.

(Special Reporter)

"There is No Jinx" was the slogan of our basketball team as they trotted onto the floor at the Y on Tuesday, March 8, for the final Church League basketball game of the season, with the Y's Men and at the end of the game their faith in their slogan was by no means weakened but rather more firmly established.

Both teams were out to win, each having a double object to work for. The outcome of this game decided which team would secure the right to meet the Toronto team, whether the Y's Men would be able to get into the Church League finals and whether the College Team would be able to uphold their new slogan.

With these ends to work for both teams played at a furious pace throughout the entire game, the College emerging from the fray on top with a 34 to 27 victory.

Although Gerry Hagey was absent from the forward line, the team made a stellar showing with L. Hagey, Stoskopf and Heckendorn going like clockwork on the offensive and the Baetz, Bretzlaff defence proving themselves almost invincible. It is hard to pick any special star of the game as every man played in an almost faultless manner. Louis Hagey, however, certainly did shine in sinking the ball as by the end of the game he had piled up 19 of the College's 34 points. The rest of the scoring was divided up between Stoskopf, Heckendorn and Baetz, Stoskopf getting seven of them and Heckendorn six while Baetz slipped in a nice shot from centre.

First Period

With the toss up the battle began. For the first few minutes neither team could break away, the Y finally scoring on a nice shot from centre. Not to be outdone, L. Hagey immediately evened up the score by an equally nice shot. The play continued like this, neither side seeming to have any advantage on the other, until about half way through the period when the College squad seemed to find the range of the basket and by their superior combination ran in four baskets in quick succession. The first half whistle sounded with the score 19 to 10 in favour of the College, Hagey securing 10, Stoskopf 5 and Heckendorn 4.

Second Period

In the second half the Y's Men made the College work for their points. At first the Y even had the upper hand, but the College came back again and towards the last of the game, once more took the leading part in the play. The three forwards showed some nice combination in this period as time after time they worked up the entire length of the floor in spite of the efforts of the Y's defence to intercept their passes. The Y's men secured two points more than the College in this period, the score being 17 to 15 with Hagey getting 9 points more for the College. The final score thus found the College ahead by 34 to 27.

BASKETEERS END SEASON

Second Period

In the second period the Toronto all star aggregation played a far better class of basketball and the College was extended to the utmost to keep their lead. Jimmie Forsyth the elusive forward of the visitors made a sweet shot from centre floor at the opening of the half. This appeared to have a steadying effect on the whole college team who settled down to a do or die battle. G. and L. Hagey both scored on smooth combination and Captain Stoskopf, who was playing an excellent game, also sank another to make the score 22 to 13 when a two minute rest period was called.

After this rest period the Toronto outfit treated the spectators to one of the fastest and fiercest offensive games that they have witnessed in many a week. Shot after shot was potted at the basket and the follow in on the rebounds on their part was nothing short of a marvel. Forsyth grabbed a loose ball under the basket and slipped it through the ring. Bryce then slipped down the sidelines to score another daring basket. The cool forward line of the College however, worked the ball back up the floor on several occasions and G. Hagey claimed the reward for the effort when he sunk the final basket of the game. The final whistle blew with the Toronto quintet using their superior condi-

DRIBBLES

The school basketball team are certainly doing their stuff. It is regrettable that they lost the Zion game early in the season by a margin of one point since they would have been in the city play-offs if they had won this game.

Next year a better organized system of athletics is being proposed! It is time! When the basketball team has not played one game outside of the city, it is time that some changes were made.

The tickets for the city championship track meet are on sale and can be obtained from any member of the track team.

The house league schedule is now drawing to a close. The play-offs on March 28 and 30 will be real battles. They all have their eyes on Tiny's supper which assuredly will be some feed.

The pyramid team is now down to hard work. The annual exhibition will be coming off in about a month and "Gerry" promises that this one will excel the former ones.

DON'T FORGET THE TRACK MEET FRIDAY, FEB. 18, AT Y.M.C.A.

The cage team displayed both class and fighting spirit when they defeated the strong Toronto aggregation on Saturday night. Stoskopf's quintet were playing against three senior O.A.B.A. men from Broadview Y in the persons of Bryce, Faber and Munroe. Archie Bryce will be remembered as a former teacher at the K.W. Collegiate and also coach of their basketball team.

One defect which was disappointing in Saturday's game was the poor foul shooting. All three forwards could improve in this department of the game. If the game had been closer the tide might have been turned by just one of these easy points.

The Junior and Senior Tuxis league will be starting in another week at the Y. It is hoped that the Collegians will see fit to enter a team.

Spring is coming! The athletic Seniors will soon be announcing the date for their marble championship!

tion to force the play. Final score 26 to 17.

WHO'S WHO AT WATERLOO

Biography of Rev. Prof. H. Henkel.

Rev. Prof. H. L. Henkel, Librarian, Professor of O. T. Theology in the Evangelical Lutheran Seminary, Lecturer in Philosophy and Hebrew in Waterloo College, was born in Espol, Kreis Nordheim, Hanover, Germany. He is the son of Ludwig and Caroline Henrici Henkel. His early education was obtained in the public schools of his native village and through private tutoring at Fredelsloh. In 1887 he entered Kropp pro-Seminar from which institution he graduated in 1889 and he immediately entered Kropp Seminary. In 1891 illness forced him to leave Kropp temporarily. The next three years he spent in and about Goettingen where he was able to avail himself of the opportunities offered by the University. He spent the winter of 1893-94 as Hauslehrer in the Gymnasium at Hanover. In 1894 he re-entered Kropp Seminary and graduated "cum laude" from that institution the following year. In 1895 he came to Canada, where he entered the ministry on September 1. Prof. Henkel has served the following parishes: Green Lake from 1895 to 1903 and Brant from 1903 until 1920, when he was called to the Seminary Faculty.

From 1908 to 1909 Prof. Henkel was secretary of the Canada Synod and for many years he served on the Examination Committee. He was also secretary of the Catechism Committee. At the present he is president of the Kitchener Conference and a member of various committees of the Canada Synod.

Since joining the Seminary Faculty Prof. Henkel has had charge of the Old Testament studies. Upon the founding of Waterloo College he joined the College Faculty as Lecturer in Philosophy and Hebrew. Prof. Henkel is Librarian of the combined libraries and he is the representative of Waterloo College on the Library Board of the University of Western Ontario. A number of Professor Henkel's articles have appeared in the "Canada Kirchenblatt". In 1912 he received the honor of being invited by the University of Toronto to deliver a special lecture on "Eucken."

Freshmen Essay On The Goose

The goose is a low, heavy-set bird, composed mostly of meat and feathers. His head sits on one end and he sits on the other. He cannot sing much on account of the dampness and the moisture in which he lives. There ain't no between of his toes and he carries a toy balloon in his stomach to keep him from sinking. A goose has two legs and they are set so far back on his running gears that they come pretty near missing his body. If I was a goose, I would rather be a gander.

ORION

Oh, guardian of the winter skies,
Oh, thou great giant Algebar,
For thee the goddess of the moon
Does ever breathe her loving sighs,
And gazes yearning from afar
And o'er thy stalwart form doth croon.

Orion dost thou know, who 'twas
Who shot that speedy barb at thee?
It was indeed thy loved one,
The goddess of the Moon, but cause
For blame, on her must never be
Full soon did she thy death atone.

While bathing in the waters cold,
The sun-god sent his rays so red
Upon thy massive form and lo!
Thou shonest like a piece of gold
At which the sister's barb was sped
Not knowing what she saw below.

Her aim was swift, her aim was sure.
Orion thou didst forward fall
And slowly sink into the sea.
From Jove the goddess did secure
Thy form so massive and so tall,
And in the heavens placed thee.

Thus when the Winter's azure skies
Are spread, in blues and deepest reds,
And all the lovely stars of night
Come forth and shine before our eyes
Thy mighty form its splendour sheds
And brightens all within our sight.

And so for thee great Algebar,
The pretty goddess slowly rides
Each night by your lofty abode,
And passing in her silver car
Whispers her love, then swiftly glides
Along the sparkling Western Road.

redemption of the world. In spite of all this the journey to Jerusalem was a journey to victory.

What did it mean to His disciples whom He had trained? We are told they did not know and yet he did not say "I" but "we" go. They were to suffer with Him and were to witness some of the redemption of their and our own sins. They were to be the ambassadors of His cross.

What does it mean to us? It is a fitting message for the Lenten season. Physically we cannot go to Jerusalem but in spirit we can by meditating on His passion which was endured for our sakes. It should call upon us to take up our cross and follow Him and to learn more and more to take up His cross. The way of the cross is hard. It was infinitely hard for Him but it is made easier for us because He helps to bear our burdens for us. He holds before us the reward—a place in His many mansions in Heaven.

ATHENAEUM EXECUTIVE WILL COMMAND ATTENDANCE

If Members Do Not Take A More Active Interest.

"What is more rare than a day in June?" A well attended Athenaeum meeting! Reiterating some of the worthy Dean's diction the Athenaeum executive throws out a hint, "Use a privilege, don't abuse it." You have the privilege of absentsing yourself from the meetings if acceptable reasons can be given but don't arouse the wrath of the executive by making great a petty excuse. "A word to the wise is sufficient." Members please copy.

The program for the evening "went across smoothly in spite of the absence of one speaker and the Glee Club number. This latter named body must have forgotten that they are to function while the former person must have been fatigued from his previous week's work as "Circulation Manager of the College Cord." Far be it from the reporter's thoughts to mention any names.

After the reading and adoption of the previous meeting's minutes, the roll call was taken which reported fourteen members present. What an imposing body—twelve students and two professors. However, at intervals throughout the evening's entertainment many smiling physiognomies appeared through the screening above the "gym" like the faces of soldiers through the loopholes in the fort. To these the executive sends out special invitations. Come down next time, the meeting is gratis.

A recitation was given in a splendid manner by Harold Crouse. The recitation was a section of Tennyson's Morte d'Arthur entitled "Sir Galahad." After this Ferris Loth delighted the audience with a piano solo and it was only after he had given an encore that the listeners' hunger for music was partly appeased. The comic reading by the "Canadian Humorist," Harry Robert Burns Weir, was enjoyed by all. The content of his reading was the adventure of "Hezekiah Hayloft" who led a life of rustic crime in New York. The story written by Stephen Leacock is humorous from beginning to end and an encore would have been greatly appreciated. The impromptu talk given by H. Lossing on "How to Increase the Number of Pupils in Waterloo College" was well given and the advertising department of the school would do well to take some of Mr. Lossing's suggestions of methods of attraction.

Rev. Neudoerffer acted as critic for the evening's program and commented on the standard of entertainment and instruction given by the students. The critics report giv-

LAURY LITERARY

The two meetings recently held, as our critic Dr. Willison pointed out, represent the low and the high wave of progress. The meeting held two weeks ago was very short, since there were four numbers that could not be given. But what was given was quite good. C. Little gave an extemporaneous talk on Canadian sports, Loth a recitation, A. Little an essay, and Pauli played a few selections on his accordion. But this week's meeting was the crest of the wave. It was the first "Variety" program attempted by the new executive and all the numbers revolved around the theme "William Shakespeare, Father of English Literature." E. MacIntosh, first to take the floor, read an essay, "Life of Shakespeare" which was fair. Following this we heard Neufeldt, a favourite reciter with the students, who gave us a selection from the great dramatist's "Julius Caesar." At this time there was a break in the theme and F. Haak played for us a few of his favourites on his concertino. To continue, W. Nolting read one of Shakespeare's many sonnets. Maas took the platform and gave us the second recitation of short selections from Merchant of Venice. H. MacIntosh read us his essay "Appreciation of Shakespeare" which delighted his audience. As a concluding number Knapp described in a novel way the theatre in the time of the dramatist.

On Next Wednesday afternoon and on following afternoons are to be held the preliminary trials for the public speaking contest and our modern "Demosthenes" are busy at work.

GERMAN LITERARY

The society is enjoying the programs and Dr. Schorten is delighted with the progress made. Two weeks ago was held a regular type program but this week a dialogue was put on, and was received with enthusiasm. The talks given contained good morals and the students are deriving great help in their study of German through the meetings.

en, the meeting was adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem.

You who were among the missing at the last meeting remember that all college students are members and that all members are welcome, no matter who you may be. Your presence is requested at the next meeting, Thursday, March 17, at 7.30 p.m.

Self-reverence, self-knowledge, self-control,
These three alone lead life to sovereign power.

Letters To The Editor

Waterloo, Ont., March 5, 1927.

Dear Mr. Editor:

"Modest silence" is ever the Waterloo Senior's motto, but sometimes he is compelled to speak, to refute false accusations. What a self-righteous and faultless sophomore the composer of the "Freshmen and Seniors Are Equal" article of last College Cord issue must be! What a wonderful way to take a crack at the Seniors! How easily one can "blow his own horn" through a written medium! It is usually because a fellow peeks a little too high or because his hat is getting too small that he sees the faults of others but is blind to his own shortcomings. No one but a Waterloo College Sophomore would put a Freshman and a Senior on equal terms, for others displace those "so-called wise-men" and reveal their wisdom by "shutting-up."

It is true that several Seniors were elected as members of the Tribunal and I dare anyone to say that they have not faithfully responded when the chairman, who is not a Senior, called for meetings. What do the Seniors know about the in-coming accusations? Nothing. The chairman of the Tribunal receives them and if he doesn't notify the Seniors and other members of the body, what fault of theirs is it? Why do not the Sophomores take the Freshmen in hand? They do in other colleges. After all, why should a senior soil his hands in mixing with the affairs of the Freshmen and Sophomores? He is beyond that stage where such petty things are his concern. To meddle or tamper with such trifling, insignificant things would merely serve to lower his dignity and prestige.

I ask you, is your idea of wisdom (so carefully guarded by other Seniors) a display of smartness, or pertness, or freshness, or sauciness, or forwardness, or boldness, or impertinence, or incivility, or impoliteness, or impudence? Is that your definition of wisdom? Then I must say the Senior has none, and, what's more, cares to have none. Is it not rather a sign of ignorance than of wisdom? The Senior does not claim a sense of superiority as the writer takes it. He does not believe in deliberately bullying his fellow knowledge-seekers, but he does hope to live a life of superiority. I let you judge which is the better. The Senior ever believes that speech is silver but silence is gold. Any Sophomore who knows his brain will recognize that in the Seniors. To them deep waters noiseless are, but chiding streams betray small depth below, and if the writer of last paper's article will ever be a Senior, he will realize that vessels never give so great a sound as when they are empty. Remember what Simonides said—that he never repented that he had held his tongue, but often that he had spoken. If the Freshmen and Seniors are equal at Waterloo College, what is the status of the Juniors and Sophomores? So you claim to be equal or even superior to Seniors? If not, then you must even be inferior to the Freshmen since they are equal to the Seniors. Are you willing to admit that to your own shame or have you enough nerve and brass to exalt yourself above the Upperclassmen?

And now, Mr. Editor, don't you think it would be wiser to reserve some of that "wise-stuff" for the final examinations to help raise the Sophomore percentage out of the slump? Spread your wisdom then

Discords

Dr. Ratz (in Public Health lecture): Why should you students always keep your rooms clean?

Student: Because the Housefather is liable to walk in at any time.

Dr. Willison drove up to the gate at the Toronto Exhibition in his Ford. Presently he was stopped by the gatekeeper who said: "One dollar for the car, sir."

Dr. Willison looked at him for a few seconds in deep thought and then answered, "Sold."

A freshman was called as a witness. He mumbled his words so that the stenographer could not hear him. The judge told him to turn around, face the stenographer and speak plainly. "Speak to the stenographer," the prosecutor said sternly. "How do you do?" said the young man, with much dignity as he rose and bowed deeply.

Prof. Hirtle: Weir, give me three proofs that the residue is an acid.

Weir: The text book says so, you say so and Herbert says so.

Mr. Roberts: So you know as much as your professor do you? Where do you get that idea?

George: He told me so himself. He said he couldn't teach me anything.

Dr. Willison: "Is there a word in the English language that contains all the vowels?"

Crouse: "Unquestionably."

Dr. Willison: "What is it?"

H. C.: "I've just told you."

Misch (in History 20): The root of our tree of civilization is in Greece.

Cunningham: That tree must be a slippery elm.

Antidote

Prof. Hirtle (in chemistry): Suppose that you were summoned to the side of a patient who had accidentally swallowed a heavy dose of oxalic acid. What would you administer?

Bald (theological student taking chemistry because obligatory in course): I would administer the sacrament!

Schmidt: Hey, Louie!

Hagey: Ya!

Schmidt: Dr. Potter says we're here to help others.

Hagey: What about it?

Schmidt: Well, what are the others here for?

and rest assured that the Seniors can take care of themselves without the friendly advice of a "so-called Sophomore."

A Senior.
