City's Assistance Asked By College In Its Campaign

Waterloo College Plans Twin City Canvass For Endowment Funds; What College Offers Public.

Sympathetic support for Waterloo College from the city council of Kitchener was sought at the meeting of the finance committee Thursday night, January 31, by Rev. E. Neudoerffer, who addressed the aldermen on the subject of college extension. Mr. Neudoerffer explained the aims and objects of Waterloo College stressing the difference between the college and the seminary and pointing out that while the latter's object is theological training, the college is an institution of general learning and attended by young men of all denominations. The college, he stated, is not denominational in its outlook but purely educational. He asked that the city council endorse a city-wide campaign which the college authorities are about to inaugurate in order to secure the necessary endowments to widen the scope of the institution's curriculum.

In his opening remarks the speaker stated that whenever Waterloo College is mentioned there seems to be a general misunderstanding created with the result that the college and the seminary are confused. They are two separate institutions. The seminary is an institution representative of the Lutheran Church while the college is representative of the community. Students of any denomination are welcomed and he was happy to say that out of the student body a great many of the students were adherents of various Christian sects.

After explaining the objectives of the college from the standpoint of educational development, he stated that the present weakness of the institution consists in its lack of classical, mathematical and scientific courses in the junior and senior years. The graduates are purely from the B. A. course and are not graduated in mathematics, science or the classics. The graduates are from the English literature department. This, he stated, should be changed so that students can be graduated from the other essential courses. The staff is not large enough at present to allow for this and in order to expand in this direction it is necessary to have further endowments as the present financial standing of the institution will not allow for such expansion. He explained that the authorities of the college are now planning a campaign for endowment funds to be solicited in Kitchener and Waterloo and he asked that the council pass a resolution giving sympathetic endorsement to this campaign. He also asked that a grant be donated by the city if possible.

After hearing Rev. Neudoerffer the committee referred the matter of the grant to the estimates committee and appointed Mayor Clement and Ald. Schneider as a committee to draft a suitable resolution for presentation to city council on Monday night.

SOLITARY CONFINEMENT

Solitary confinement is something not to be treated lightly. I know, for I have suffered its consequences. Alone, all alone, not allowed to breathe the clear and pure air of the great outside. Not allowed to feel the warmth of the sun. Not allowed to inhale the invigorating, frosty air of this beautiful weather; to feel the tinge of vitality surging through my veins.

Even as I write I am confined, a solitary, disconsolate and weakened figure, longing for the sound of the chirping sparrows, the feel of the crunching snow under my feet, the sight of the bright sun in all its glory. But alas, I am confined, suffering an almost unbearable punishment, a penalty fit only for those in my plight, I bow my head in sorrow as I write. Truly I deserve it, but after so long I wonder if it is justice, I curse the law and its confinement, but to no avail.

Perhaps it is better for humanity that I am imprisoned, held back from all social functions, restrained from seeing my friends, unable to speak to anyone. Oh! why should I suffer thus?

But yes, when I think, I do merit it, it is a lesson. Sometime I'll be free and I'll remember this. It will help me to lead, in the future, a clean and wholesome life, void of any contamination.

Ah, let me warn you, you who are now free as the bountiful air, let

Even-Play Game Won By College "Neverslips" By 2-1 Score. Elfert, Baetz and Imrie Star For College.

A victory for the College? You bet! At any rate, that is what it looked like when Baetz tried a tricky back hand snap-shot. However, Dahmer, goalie for St. John's, made a nice save. Then Heer got the puck and broke through, but was checked by Shelley. Knapp began to warm up, but with Elfert keeping a close watch he was soon checked. The College was playing wonderful combination. This alone gave them the edge over the Lutherans. Both goalies stopped many sure shots, otherwise the score would have run up considerably in the first few minutes. Baetz and Heer made a scramble for the puck with the result that Baetz was pen-

One Or Two Thoughts

The sooner certain professors escape from the archaic idea that students should write seven sermons on seven questions in the three hour examination time allotted the better it will be for both parties concerned. This is the age of speed with conciseness as a necessary Descartean attribute. If professors expect a student to write everything he knows on the subject or at least everything he has learned from the prescribed text book then ask the general question—immediately the student will write what Robinson, Cross, Tilley or Johnson think. But, on the other hand, when professors ask what students realize as particular questions and manuscripts are expected, just at this point students and professors are on the "outs."

After all, the professors are teaching so that the students can take their respective places among the leaders of the world. Therefore of what use is all this petty information. Facts are what the student wants and facts are what he must get if the graduate is to take up his elected vocation and make a success of it. How long will the ordinary or extraordinary General Arts student remember whether Dante had trouble getting into the city of Dis during his trip to the Lower Regions or whether he rode in with ease on one of those long-eared ancient miniature horses.

Therefore if both groups in question, especially the higher dignitaries, will meditate on the foregoing thoughts and act accordingly we deem it practically a concluded fact that both will have a greater repertoire of useful knowledge.

Members '29 Retire

With this issue the members of the class of '29 retire from the Cord staff. Their activities in connection with the paper cease. But should they cease? They are leaving the school. Their paths which have hitherto run somewhat closely together, will gradually tend to run farther and farther apart. There is one connection, however, between the school and also between the former members of our various classes. This bond is the College Cord. It will always keep us in close contact with our school, and our classmates who have gone out into the world. These men are retiring from the staff, but there is a spark of loyalty in their hearts for their old paper, and as they go out from the school their influence in "Cord" circles will be felt as much as when they were present in body. The law of life demands a coming and a going. Those who are going throw their mantle to us who are left and bid us carry on what they have so nobly started. We who are left wish them Godspeed in their undertakings, and say, not "good-bye," but farewell. We will hear from you again.

Concords

Oratorical Contest

The preliminary contest, at which five students will be selected to compete in the finals in April, will be held on Thursday, February 28 at 3.00 p. m.

Every student who wishes to compete must hand to the Dean his name and the subject on which he will speak, before Feb. 1.

The contest is open to all students of the College.

Preston Skating Party

A letter was received from the Corresponding Secretary of the Preston Luther League inviting all the students of the institution to a skating party to be held at the Preston Arena Monday, Feb. 11 at 8 p. m.

Adequate refreshments will be provided by the social committees of the various leagues. Therefore the society may be assured of a large turn-out from the college.

College Cord Banquet

The members of the College Cord staff will banquet at "Hermie" Wagner's on Tuesday, February 5. It was decided at a recent meeting. All members were agreeable so a full turn-out is expected. Dean Froats will chaperon the boys.

Let Us Weep Together

From a glance at the grades recently attained by the students in the examinations one would say that either the student wisdom has deteriorated or there has been a shake-up in the marking system. The Concorde hates to say which but all evidence points to the latter. Formerly the student could diligently study the prescribed work and pass his exam but now the student has also to take into consideration the various moods of the professors. Men, if you have stepped on a professor's toes, you're sunk or you may become a floating derelict.

"The living teacher makes the text-book only the thread of what he gives his students."

"COLLEGE CORD" BIRTHDAY

Another year of the "College Cord" has passed. Whether it has been a successful year or not we will allow you your own judgment. As the youth grows into manhood the amount of knowledge that he can impart is heightened. As the "College Cord" leaves the years behind, improvements in the news items and style of presentation are noted.

The retiring officers have done considerable work for the College paper. That they haven't done their best they will admit. Experience shows them a wider field and now it is up to them to present their improvement to the future staff.

Carry on, men! Carry on.

CONTENTMENT

To be content my fondest hope
Is but to sit awhile and dream
Beside some gently murmuring stream

That softly purls by wooded slope.

To let my thoughts while thus I rest
Be carried far amongst the clouds,
Away from all the bustling crowds
And weariness that they suggest.

To let my thoughts but roam awhile
Amidst my castles built in Spain,
To live a moment once again
In far-off things that bring a smile.

To travel o'er this busy world
Adventure-bound for love or gold,
To play again at knights of old
Or as a prince with flag unfurled.

All these and many others too
Would pass so swiftly through my mind,

Yet I in one or more would find Much sought contentment through and through.

While all about me in the trees
And all throughout the shaded nooks,
The whispering birds and babbling
brooks

Would keep my thoughts in tune with these.

Review of Novels

"THE PLAINS OF ABRAHAM"

By

James Oliver Curwood

Curwood's latest addition to his lengthy library is something different from the usual run of his novels. True there is the strong virile manhood and the exquisite wildness of God's country. But there is a factor above and beyond these. His intense love of nature in all its sublime grandeur finds expression in portions of this book which rival those of Louis Hemon's "Marie Chapdelaine."

As he states he is not a historian but a novelist yet weaving in and out we find history of the most tense and tragic period of New France.

"The Plains of Abraham" is a historical continuation of his other novel "The Black Hunter." Jeems and Toinette scarcely more than children find themselves hurled into the greatest tragedy of history—the fall of New France. Jeems, a son of French and English parentage, is torn between conflicting desires. On one hand there is the influence of his uncle Hepsibah with his rustic philosophy of life, on the other is the love for his father, a French habitant. Then comes the pitiless attack of the Senecas, the destruction of Tonteur Manor and the flight of Jeems with Toinette who up to then has nourished a contemptuous dislike for Jeems.

Of their capture and captivity in the Hidden City of the Senecas Curwood has made a dramatic love story. Then comes the separation and years of wandering. The interest is sustained until the end when after Wolfe's memorable victory at Quebec the two lovers are reconciled.

Curwood pictures the warlike Senecas as men who like other humans, have a noble side of character which however has been suppressed through centuries of contact with the riff-raff of European civilization. Curwood says "The Indian was the greatest of all friends, the greatest of all patriots, the greatest of all lovers of his country. Despoiled, subjugated, annihilated, he died a savage."

The Plains of Abraham is both a social, historical and literary contribution to the literature of this continent and will be acclaimed as the masterpiece of its author.

A COLLEGE SCHOOL GUY

I see a man strut through a jam
in a hall,

Take a seat with the speaker and chat with them all,

"Is this Albert?" I ask, "that the crowd he defies?"

"No," says someone, "he's one of the College School guys."

I see a man pushing his way through the lines

Of the cops, where a fire brightly
glitters and shines,

"Chief Koerber?" I ask, but the janitor replies,

"Oh no, why—that's one of those College School guys."

I see a man start on the trail of a crook,

And he scorns all assistance but brings him to brook,

"Mr. Schaus?" I inquire, someone scornfully cries—

"Schaus? No, he's just one of those College School guys."

I see a man walk through the door of a show,

Where great throngs are blocked by the sign S. R. O.

"Is this Crouse himself that no ticket he buys?"

"Well, hardly, he's one of those College School guys."

I see a man knock on a President's door,

And the sign, No Admittance, completely ignore,

"Is he Hagey that privacy's right he denies?"

"Hagey? Shucks! It's just one of the College School guys."

And some day I'll walk by the great streets of gold,

And see a man enter unquestioned
and bold,

"A college student?" I'll enquire,
and the grads will reply,

"Well, I should say not, he's a College School guy."

COLLEGE "NEVERSLIPS" DEFEAT ST. PAUL'S IN INITIAL GAME

Lutheran Hockey Club Opens Season On Jan. 24. College And St. Peter's Score Victories.

The first game of the Lutheran Church Hockey League, was played at the College "Sliditorium" on Thursday evening, the 24th, when the College "Neverslips" handed an eye opener to St. Paul's, easily trouncing them by a score of 6-3. The game was fast, and also interesting when the players began to use rugby tactics.

The first five minutes of the game proved greatly encouraging to the visitors, as they were easily able to centre their attack around the College goal. But Imrie, our goalkeeper, was always wide awake and made several wonderful saves. A lone rush by Eifert quickly turned the tables and from then on, the "Neverslips" were able to keep the puck in the region of the visitors' goal. Duenick, the goal keeper of St. Paul's, played a good game, and saved many hard shots. Runke and Harlock tried several long shots, but Imrie was always watching. The "Neverslips" again regained the puck, but a long shot by Shelley lodged it in the snow on the other side of the boards. Baetz and Shantz played some nice combination, and when past the defence line, Shantz scored the first goal of the evening. After many attempts on both sides the bell rang. The score stood 1-0 in favour of the Neverslips at the end of the first period.

The second period opened with several long shots on the St. Paul's goal, but without success. Witzel passed to Baetz and Baetz shoved the little rubber disc past the goal keeper. St. Paul's, not to be outdone made a three man attack on our defence and after drawing Imrie out of the goal, Schumaker scored on a neat pass from Harlock. Both sides now began to show real life and several penalties were handed out. During a scramble in front of St. Paul's net, the puck again found its way behind the goalie. The "Neverslips" were now well in the lead. Schroeder took the puck up the ice and passed to Emms who added another tally to our card, but after a lengthy decision it was decided to drop this goal as it was thought to be offside. The game still continued rough on both sides. Witzel after a brilliant display of stickhandling, scored another goal a few minutes before the end of the second period. The score now stood 4-1 favour of the College.

The last period started fast and furious but the "Neverslips" were unable to score. St. Paul's with a three man offensive broke through the line and scored another point. When another "merry mixup" occurred in front of St. Paul's goal, Witzel again succeeded in shoving the "pill" through. The visitors showed signs of depression but still had much of their fighting spirit left according to the way they handled our defencemen. The "Neverslips" closed in again, after much dilly-dallying, but the goalie sat on the puck; after some good stickhandling and combination St. Paul's were able to get past our defencemen and scored their last goal. Eifert however, followed their example and making a lone rush easily placed the puck in the net. This was perhaps the most brilliant play of the evening and was also the last goal.

St. Paul's now played a defensive game and tried many long shots, but Imrie was prepared to meet each one. When the bell rang the score stood 6-3 in favour of the College.

Line-up—

St. Paul's—Centre, Runke; wings, Harlock, Herchenratter; defense, Shoemaker, Wolfenberg; goalkeeper, Duenick; subs, Orzen, Israel.

"Neverslips" — Centre, Baetz; wings, Schantz, Shelley; defense, Witzel, Eifert; goalkeeper, Imrie; subs, Schroeder, Little, Enns.

A SNOW STORM

Though some poets can derive inspiration from an innocent looking snow flake they can not depict the fury that accompanies these crystalline forms. They sometimes bring the most uncomform that human man ever experience.

Snow storms come so that the people can appreciate the good weather. They usually come out of the stillness of the night and in the morning the snowflakes are lodged on the pillow or any other place. Where the storms go to is one of the greatest problems of the human race. The wind is so furious that it would blow the eyes out of a persons shoes. It can play to the tune of the bagpipes on the window shutters or resound the sweet notes of the sirene or the fog horns of the Ford cars.

One great result of the storm is the distorted face of the professor. A very confident man whose false teeth became frozen to his jaw used some language which sounded like the Hebrew alphabet backwards.

What a small item is a snow-storm to the storm of married life when all the household contents go directly for your head and your neck becomes twisted like a cork-screw in your efforts to dodge them. But out of every storm there comes a calm whereof we know not.

COLLEGE BASKETEERS DEFEATED BY GALT IN CLOSE GAME

Galt Comes From Behind And Wins
By 7 Points.

In one of their most closely contested games played in the intermediate O.A.B.A. series Saturday, Jan. 19, Waterloo College was defeated at the Galt "Y" by the score of 33-26. Galt had to fight hard for a win, and the game was in doubt until the final whistle blew. Klinck the regular forward was missing from the College line up, and his place was taken by Buehlow, who played a consistent game. Although L. Hagey the scoring ace of the College team was closely guarded, he managed to score 13 of the team's points. Good combination was shown by both teams, with good results. The game was fast and at times almost seemed to get beyond the control of the referee. Fouls played an important part in the game, the College scoring nine points on fouls. Captain Baetz was especially fortunate in this respect scoring five points in seven attempts.

The College drew first blood when shortly after the toss up Imrie scored on a foul shot. Galt however soon retaliated and the fight was on. Baetz then scored on a foul shot tying the score. Gordon put the College in the lead and this was increased by Hagey who sank a basket from centre. Galt made things more interesting when they scored twice in succession. Imrie was hurt and he was replaced by Goos. Galt then took the lead but they were never more than three points up. Shortly before the whistle blew for half time Baetz scored on a technical foul and Hagey scored a field basket making the score at half time 15-14 in favour of the College.

The second half opened with the College increasing their lead. Hagey, Baetz and Gordon scoring in succession. However Galt came to life and with a scintillating attack scored eight points, putting them in the lead. Hagey and Baetz soon diminished this, the former scoring a field basket while Baetz sank two fouls. In the dying moments of the game both teams put forth a desperate effort. Brown, a Galt defense man went through for two baskets and the game ended 33-26 for Galt.

SPORT DOPE

By
A. WHISPER

The College open air arena is becoming a centre of attraction as all the Lutheran Hockey League games are being played there. At times the weather-man is not agreeable so that the games scheduled for the first night had to be postponed. The games which were to be played on Tues., Jan. 22, were played the following Thursday.

St. Peter's hockeyists "broke the ice" by defeating St. John's by a score of 3-2.

Even after playing over time for ten minutes last Tuesday St. Peter's and St. Paul's failed to break the tie of 2-2.

The game between St. John's and Waterloo College was a hectic struggle from beginning to end. At no time was either team supreme. Although the contest savoured of wood-chopping at times, it was nevertheless intensely exciting from the spectators' point of view.

The College sextet showed excellent form. They back-checked effectively and played their positions well. Baetz's and Shelley's sharp-shooting proved disastrous to their opponents, while Eifert and Witzel made an almost impregnable defence.

Herb Heer and "Flem" Knorr were the spirit of St. John's.

The fact that Herb Heer has been starring on the Kitchener intermediates goes to show that the L. H. L. is fostering hockey of no mean calibre.

Everyone who witnessed the Galt-Waterloo College O. A. B. A. game will agree that it was a real exhibition of basketball. The fray became rather rough at times and Galt claimed the majority of penalties.

We have no alibi to offer for the basketball defeat received from the K-W "Y", but possibly Hagey forgot to take his rabbit's foot with him. When basket and ball refuse to connect what can be done?

alized for heavy checking. With only four men left, Shelley made a lone rush and scored. The period ended 1-0 in favour of the College.

The second period opened with Eifert, Baetz, and Shelley doing some fine stick-handling. Knapp flashed again and seemed to be trying to settle some old score with Eifert. Heer was penalized for heavy checking. The Lutherans seemed to have lost pep without Heer, but when he came back, he scored the first goal for St. John's. The period ended with a score of 1-1.

In the third period Baetz again scored, on a pass from Eifert. This was the last goal to be made. The teams were very well matched. The three outstanding players for the College were Baetz, Eifert and Imrie, although all the players played fine hockey. The final score was 2-1 in favour of Waterloo College.

Line-Up

Waterloo—Goal, A. Imrie; defence, G. Witzel, W. Eifert; forwards, H. Baetz, E. Shelley, A. Shantz; subs, E. Schroeder, W. Hamm, H. Little, G. Albrecht.

St. John's—Goal, Dahmer; defence, N. Knapp, H. Heer; forwards, E. Heer, E. Heimpel, F. Knorr; subs, A. Knorr, A. Orth, H. Hartung.

CHURCH LEAGUE

The College Church League basketballers have been excelling in losses so far. In their first game they were defeated by Benton Street Baptists by a score of 19-13. The game was very loose. The College was careless in passing and weak in shooting.

When the Trinity team met Waterloo College the latter showed much improvement. At first the game looked like a runaway as Trinity was up eight points before Waterloo scored. From that time on, however, the game became more of a contest. At times Trinity was only leading by two points. The final score stood at 23-16.

The College line-up for the Church League has been: H. Scherbarth, J. Neff, A. Pauli, A. Shantz, H. Little, H. Crouse, M. Ide, S. Alberti.

Galt has practically clinched the group leadership of the C.O.A.B.A. K-W "Y" and Waterloo College are now tied for the cellar position.

SEMINARY ALUMNI NEWS

Rev. F. L. Howald S.T.M.

Epiphany—manifestation of Light. "I am the Light of the world." The season granted by the U. L. C. to the Mission Board for their appeal for the foreign fields. The necessary funds for this very important work will relieve a serious situation of our church. If a church must, through lack of funds for the salvation of unsaved souls, retain their missionaries, close some fields and in general retard this work of Christ what can the outcome be? In view of so many fine church buildings, memorials, renovations, etc., costing five times our foreign missionary debt, while many, yes, too many, know nothing of the Saviour and His church. It is prayerfully hoped our church in America will prove its faith.

We learn from good authority, that Rev. R. B. Geelhaar, Listowel, has been appointed to the Board of Governors of our Seminary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the Rev. H. Twietmeyer.

Congratulations to Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Schildroth, Windsor,—a baby girl—Evelyn Victoria

One more crosses the river,—Bro. H. E. Schildroth will go to Bethel Ev. Luth. church, Detroit, April 1. This is the oldest congregation of the U. L. C. in that city. This move to such a field is truly a credit to Waterloo.

From Winnipeg—Trinity Luth. church, Rev. H. Rembe, Litt. B. S. pastor, celebrated its 40th anniversary December 16, 1928. The congregation is planning interior renovations, a new altar will be placed and a fine reredos will add to its beauty. The re-dedication is expected to be on Easter Sunday. We congratulate the pastor and his congregation. Your "Monats-Blatt" is very interesting.

Everyone would gladly read "news" from the other two brethren in the west. Incidentally we may add that the three pastors of Waterloo Seminary, serving west of the Soo, are classmates of '16.

"The Lutheran Herald" parish paper of Zion Luth. Church at the "Soo" has now a new suit. This child is growing. It has a larger suit. We are happy to report its growth. Bro. S. Cooper is the faithful pastor. The object of this congregation for 1929 is 50 new members. In truth its object is in accord with its spirit and motto.

Prayer and consecration are two factors responsible for such a spirit.

In "Redeemer Tidings", parish paper of Rev. A. G. Zinck's, D. D. congregation, Milwaukee, has a very profitable item, written by its pastor on "The Leadership in the Ideal Congregation." The three factors emphasized are, The Pastor, The

The first annual meeting of the second semester was held on Jan. 21, 1929. It opened in the usual way with the singing of the College Song. As it was the semi-annual meeting the election of officers was held. The following were nominated—

President, H. Berner; Vice-President, H. Sherbarth—By acclamation. The nominations for Secretary were,

H. Bacher, W. Hamm, A. Imrie. A. Imrie being elected.

The nominations for Censor were, R. Bean, H. Smith, R. Bean was elected.

The meeting was then adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem.

Berner—"What is the yellow light on a traffic signal for?"

Imrie—"I'll bite."

Berner—"For the Scotchman to start his motor."

On Jan. 28, 1929, the second meeting of the Laury Literary Society of the new semester was held. The program consisted of speech—Don Gordon.—How Basketball is played. Essay, H. Loth. Recitation, R. Bean. Reading, H. Bacher.

After the meeting, a short meeting of the Collegian Society was held. In this meeting it was decided to have the annual skating party on the following Wednesday, Feb. 6. A tobogganing party was also suggested but the majority preferred the former.

UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN ONTARIO APPEALS TO CITY COUNCILS

Prof. J. N. Detweiler Addresses Kitchener And Waterloo Councils.

The University of Western Ontario is, at the present time, conducting an endowment campaign. By its charter it has been assigned the fourteen Western Counties as the territory within which it will carry on its various activities. This district contains, roughly, one million people.

This year, for the first time, the registration in the University and its affiliated colleges has gone over the thousand mark. This is an increase of one hundred per cent in eight years. Furthermore, ninety per cent of the student body is from Western Ontario. The number of students registered that carry on regular work at "Western" from Waterloo county is 105. The instructional work of the University comprises the three faculties of Arts, Medicine and Public Health. The first of these is naturally the largest group since it provides the courses of study followed by those entering teaching or business as well as those seeking entrance to professions.

The Extension Work now carried on by "Western" is familiar to and well understood by a large number of people in Western Ontario. Since 1921 about 200 topical lectures have been given each year by members of the Faculty before audiences in the counties and this year a series of 27 radio lectures has been arranged. At the present time there are over 400 people registered in the adult educational groups organized by the University. These comprise classes in English Literature, Economics, Public Speaking and Business Administration.

The Summer School of the University of Western Ontario was established in 1919 and runs for six weeks, beginning the first week of July. It offers opportunity to take the very same work as would be covered in the same time during the winter session. Further, many courses may be taken entirely by correspondence. In the Summer School to be held in 1929 there will be offered two special courses which should be of very great help to the work of the teachers in their school—a course in nature study, and in mental hygiene.

One of the important functions of a modern University is research. In the Scientific Departments at "Western" much valuable work has been and is being accomplished in connection with fisheries, plant disease, problems arising in Western Ontario industries, and phenomenal mining activity in the north.

The income of the University of Western Ontario is derived chiefly from three sources, namely; Ontario Government grants, an annual grant by the city of London, and students' fees. The government grant has been $250,000 annually, the municipal grant from the city of London $55,000, and students' fees this year will amount to almost $100,000, while minor investments and immediate interest returns from the present endowment fund will yield approximately $15,000. The total ordinary income thus amounts to about $420,000 with an estimated expenditure of $500,000; this leaves a deficit of $80,000. The Provincial Government has generously made a special appropriation of $50,000 for the last two years.

1. When the air becomes cooled below the temperature for saturation, vapour condenses around the particles of dust which float in the air. If this condensation takes place in the strata of air immediately above the surface of the earth, fog is produced; if in a higher region, a cloud is formed. The cooling necessary for fog formation is caused by the chilling effects of cold masses on the earth's surface; in the upper region, a cloud is formed when a stratum of warm moist air is lowered in temperature by its own expansion under reduced pressure.

2. We have all observed that on a warm day drops of water collect on the surface of a pitcher containing ice-water. This is because the air immediately in contact with it is chilled below the dew-point. In the deposition of dew a similar action goes on on a large scale. After sunset, especially when the sky is clear, small bodies at the earth's surface, such as blades of grass, leaves, stones, and the like, cool more rapidly than the surrounding air. If the temperature of these falls below the temperature of saturation, dew collects on them from the condensation of the vapour in the air about them. If the dew-point is below the freezing-point, the moisture is deposited as frost.

3. Under the influence of gravitation the cloud globules move slowly towards the earth. If they meet with conditions favourable to vaporization, they change to vapour again, but if they meet with conditions favourable to condensation, they increase in size, unite, and fall as rain.

When the condensation in the upper air takes place at a temperature below the freezing-point, the moisture crystallizes in snow-flakes. Again at low temperatures vapour also becomes transformed into pellets of ice and comes down as hail. The hail-stones usually contain a core of closely packed snow crystals. The exact conditions under which they are formed are as yet not fully understood.

DEFEAT COLLEGE

In An Exceedingly Slow Game The College Basketeers Were Defeated By The K-W Y. By The Score Of 26-17.

The K-W Y.M.C.A. intermediates were successful in defeating the Waterloo College basketeers in a league game at the "Y" Saturday, Jan. 26. The loss practically eliminated the locals from a play off position. This was the second meeting of these two teams and by winning, the "Y" evened the count on the locals, since they were defeated in their first performance against the College squad.

The game was a rather tame affair with both teams decidedly off in their shooting. In the second half Stauffer, the "Y" defenceman was put off for having four personals. Since they had but five men in uniform the College team showed good sportsmanship in allowing Stauffer to remain in the game.

Gordon was the only College player who could find the basket with any degree of certainty. For the "Y" Don Roberts and Capling were the high scorers.

During the first half both teams checked closely. Foul shots were given freely but neither team seemed to take advantage of these. Both teams missed the basket repeatedly, with the result that at half time the score was 7-6 in favour of the College.

In the second period the game pepped up somewhat. Gordon scored several nice baskets after dribbling his way through the entire "Y" team. The College had the best of the play during the first half of this period. However towards the close of the game Roberts, Capling and Stauffer were decidedly lucky on a few long shots and the game ended with the Y leading 26-17. The teams—

HOUSE LEAGUE BASKETBALL

There are six teams entered in the House League Basketball. The enthusiasm shown in this league is fairly well evidenced by the names of the teams which are:—"Knuckle Dusters", "Never Sweats", "Gordon Dries", "Whizz Bangs", "Romeos" and "Peeweess". The first game was played Monday and the schedule runs until Mar. 8 when the two leading teams will perform the play-off.

Hardly A Professor

Prof.—Say, are you professor here or am I?

Student—Well, I know I am not.

Prof.—Then what are you talking so foolishly for?

Guide to Herb Kalbfleisch in New York—That's a skyscraper.

Herb—Oh my, I'd like to see it work.

Soph to freshman—Eight o'clock, eight o'clock.

Freshman—Did you? Better call a doctor.

Harry—What makes you twitch so?

John—I've been to a flea circus, and I must of run away with the leading lady.

Koerber — My father says he thought nothing of studying five hours a night.

Ab. Herbert—Well, I don't think much of it either.

Ben—I'm away behind in my latin translation.

John—Say, kid, you better get on your Horace.

Weir — Regarding this banquet, when will we have it?

Wally Goos—About supper time, I suggest.

Casselmann—Say, there is a window open in your room.

Crouse—Which one.

Casselmann—The one your looking out of.

Ab.—Gee, I'm glad to see you; loan me some money. I left mine at school.

George—Here's a nickel, take the street car and go get it.
