

COLLEGE ENDOWMENT FUND CAMPAIGN TO BE LAUNCHED

Preparation for the launching of the proposed Waterloo College Endowment Fund campaign are now underway, according to information handed out by Rev. Prof. E. Neu-doerffer, who has been acting as Financial Secretary of the College and Seminary.

Both Kitchener and Waterloo Councils have strongly recommended the project. The former Council passed a very gratifying resolution which reads as follows:

"That this council expresses its appreciation of the valuable service to this Twin City rendered by Waterloo College, particularly in bringing university courses and degrees within the reach of many local students who could not otherwise obtain such standing, and commends to the citizens of Kitchener the efforts of the management of the college to raise the funds necessary to carry on their work."

At a meeting of the Board of Governors of the institution on February 7th, they decided to proceed with the campaign to raise $150,000 as an endowment fund for Waterloo College. This fund is to be an endowment only for Waterloo College and should not be confused with the Hoffman Memorial Fund which will be raised in the interests of the Seminary. The field of the campaign will be limited to the Twin City.

The Board of Governors has engaged Mr. Arnaud C. Marts, of Marts and Lundy, Inc., New York City, as director of the campaign. Mr. Marts is a man of no mean reputation in this field of work having successfully directed the $500,000 Endowment Fund campaign for Wagner College and at present is helping to raise three million dollars for the Manhattan Lutheran Hospital.

Mr. Macey, Publicity Director for Marts and Lundy, will be on hand by the time this issue of the "Cord" is published. It will be his duty to gather information and prepare literature for the campaign.

During this campaign Prof. Neu-doerffer will work in co-operation with Messrs. Marts and Macey. At present he is busy gathering necessary data in the Twin City.

The actual campaign will begin immediately after Easter and is to be completed by the end of April.

CORD STAFF HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

Dean Froats Gives Valuable Criticism
In Short Address

The banquet for the retiring members of the Cord staff was held at Wagner Hotel on February 5th. "Hermie" served a very tasty dinner which did due credit to his reputation, and to which the boys did credit. Following the dinner, Dean Froats delivered a short talk concerning the past and future of the Cord. He referred to a few rather sharp articles which had appeared in the Cord throughout the term of the retiring staff, and expressed the opinion that in future a little more care should be taken and attempts be made to raise the standard of the paper. Dean Froats also demonstrated how the Cord could be a very effective means for advancing the interests of the school, and ex-

HOME OF "LIFE-BUOY" RUBBER FOOTWEAR VISITED BY W. C. GROUP

Through the generosity of Mr. A. R. Kaufman the students of Waterloo College were given the privilege of visiting one of Kitchener's largest industries, the plant of The Kaufman Rubber Co. At 10 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 14, the student body of the College accompanied by several members of the faculty assembled at the factory and were shown through the building by Mr. John Lauman.

They first visited the basement where the rubber was stored in its crude form as received from Brazil and other countries. After following the process of washing and refining they saw how the rubber was rolled into a material which could be cut. In the cutting room the group of visitors saw various styles of footwear taking form. The various parts were finally seen assembled in the shoe-making department. The shoes then appeared ready to be worn, but the students arrived just in time to see one of the huge vulcanizing ovens being closed where the footwear is given the finishing touches. The packing and shipping departments gave one an idea of the

CLASSICS DEPARTMENT PROPOSES OFFERING ADDITIONAL COURSES

Only Minimum Requirements Offered
At Present

Every growing institution has its peculiar problems. Waterloo College is no exception. In these problems each department shares. Our Board of Governors has to devise ways and means for the solution of our present financial difficulties and for the stabilizing of our economic situation. This we are informed is being done. But were our institution to stop here and be content, there could be no future for her in the life of our constituency. Therefore we must develop and expand internally. Of this fact and of its essential character the Department of Classics is fully aware. As a matter of fact plans are at this very time being most carefully considered, and we hope may be realized, in part at least, at the beginning of the next scholastic year.

At present the courses being given in this department are: In Greek, first an elementary course for beginners, which we hope may soon be placed upon the College School curriculum, where no less than two years should be offered to do that which we are now compelled to do in one year. The result would undoubtedly justify such a change. The second course offered in Greek is the equivalent of Upper School Greek. The highest course offered in Classical Greek is a continuation of the study of Greek historians and an introduction to the philosophical writings of Plato. Thus no place is provided for an appreciation of real classical literature. This condition can be remedied by the addition of the courses in Greek 30 and 40. In these the student reads more extensively from selected works of: Euripides, Sophocles, Aeschylus, Aristophanes, Demosthenes etc. However, until Greek one is placed on the curriculum in The College School, where it properly belongs, we cannot hope to add more than one of the above suggested courses.

In Latin we are giving nothing in advance of the minimum requirements for a pass B.A. degree. In these courses the student reads in prose, one book of Caesar's Civil War and selected readings from

PURPLE AND GOLD REIGNS SUPREME

St. John's Again Submit To Waterloo
College

On Tuesday night Feb. 12th, St. John's again had to bow their heads to the Waterloo College "Never-slips". To the fans watching the game, it seemed a direct contrast to the last game played between them. The plays all through were much faster. St. John's men seemed to have cooled down somewhat from the last game, as not so many rugby tactics were used. The game opened with a snap. Knorr and Heer worked the puck up the ice, but, due to Imrie's good goal-keeping, were unable to score. Eifert and his squad could not pass St. John's sturdy defence line. St. John's peppered many shots at Imrie and Herb Heer beat him on one of these scoring from about centre. Just a few minutes later, Ed. Heer stickhandled through the College team and by a neat backhand shot whizzed the puck into the goal. St. John's had the best of the play throughout the first period.

It certainly looked as if the College was vanquished. St. John's kept up their good work missing many shots on the goal. Witzel

GERMANIA HEARS HISTORY OF KROPP

Executive Gives Interesting Programme At Initial Meeting Of Second Semester.

On Thursday evening, February 14, the second meeting of the "Germania" for the second semester was held in the Chapel. It was opened, as usual, by singing "Gaudeamus Igitur."

Prof. H. Schorten, the honorary president, then gave a very interesting talk on the Seminary in Kropp. He briefly outlined its founding and its history. In connection with its beginning, he laid special stress on the memorable Rev. Paulson who made the establishment of the institution possible. In a brief characterization of Rev. Paulson, he showed how the German Lutherans in America yearned to hear the Word of God in their mother tongue.

Do It Now! One of the most ruinous habits is that of putting off till to-morrow what ought to be done to-day. Often we feel that to-morrow we will be in a better mood; to-morrow may be our "lucky" day. Of course, at first we only postpone trivial matters; we do attend to the really worthwhile things. Unconsciously, however, the habit grows until it is a part of ourselves. Then, when a crisis appears, the mind no longer responds to its sense of duty.

Daily we hear such exhortations, but not too often. That word "to-day" has decided the destiny of countries. It is said that, in the evening before the battle of the Plains of Abraham, Montcalm, the French general, had ordered a regiment to guard Foulon Cove. Vaudreuil, the governor, had thwarted him, saying: "We'll see about it to-morrow"—but Wolfe was there on that to-morrow.

Had Coleridge finished his poem, "Kubla Kahn", it might have been one of the greatest in the English language. But he left it to be finished to-morrow.

And students are by no means immune from this habit. Only a few weeks ago, while they were struggling bitterly with examinations, one frequently heard them utter solemn vows that next semester they would keep their work up-to-date. Already the second semester is fleeing; May will soon be here. What about the good intentions?

Why Study Classics? A professor of classics in one of the larger Canadian Universities has been lamenting the decreasing interest in the study of Latin and Greek. This certainly is not the case with the students of Waterloo College. The interest which students here have taken in classics has been instrumental in convincing the faculty to consider offering additional courses in Latin and Greek next fall.

This plan certainly is to be commended since classics are so important in almost every branch of study. They are one of the main sources of the language through which we communicate with one another. In order to have a firm command over the English language, a knowledge of Greek and Latin is necessary. The study of classics is the open door to a wealth of knowledge which lies buried in the ruins of Greece and Rome. Only through them can we discover the secret of the greatness of these ancient empires and by discovering the causes of the ruin of their civilization prevent the downfall of our own.

Concords

Some are still of the opinion that it must have been a Seminarian who collided with Dr. Little on the rink.

P. B. Shelley may never have walked home from Kitchener, but even for him morning came too soon, since he says in his poem "To Night":

"When I awoke and saw the dawn,
I sighed for thee."

Now that Lindbergh, the idol of the feminine world, is to be married, the rest of the bachelors will have a fighting chance.

On Saturday February 9th the private wedding of Professor E. Neudoerffer, of Waterloo College and Seminary, and Miss M. Feichslin of Philadelphia, took place in Philadelphia. Professor Neudoerffer returned to Waterloo the following Tuesday, after having made a short stop over in New York City to confer with the recently appointed campaign director for Waterloo College, Mr. Marts.

pressed his desire to assist the coming staff in any way possible. Following this Harry Weir spoke in behalf of the members of the class of '29 who were retiring from the Cord staff. Harry pointed out some of the shortcomings of the staff, and offered some very helpful suggestions to the new editor and his helpers. George Roberts then outlined the duties of the various members of the staff. Although this outline should have been given at the beginning of his term instead of at the end, yet we feel that George had the duties carefully outlined, and action will likely be taken on his suggestions. The new editor, Lloyd Schaus, then expressed his gratitude for the honor bestowed upon him in electing him to this office. Lloyd asked his assistants and also the retiring members to co-operate with him to assure the publication success throughout the coming year. The remaining part of the evening was spent in the pursuit of various games.

A SONG I

It is hard to be happy
When all things will go wrong,
When the nights seem so dreary
And the days seem so long.

It is hard to be happy
When some others are sad,
When all things make you weary
And you just can't be glad.

It is hard to be happy
When some loved one has gone,
And you've lost your dear daddy
And you just can't go on.

It is hard to be happy
And to smile all the day,
When you've quarrelled with your sweetie,
And you know you must pay.

It is hard to be happy
When no letters have come,
And the world seems so empty
And you're far from your home.

It is hard to be happy
When there's talk about you,
And it causes much worry
When such things are not true.

It is hard to be happy
When you've trusted some friend,
And you find her unworthy
And have cares without end.

It is hard to be happy
And force smiles through your tears,
Let the world see you jolly
All throughout the long years.

It is hard to be happy
When such things will persist,
When life's pathways are rocky
And keep covered with mist.

It is hard to be happy
All the day and each night,
It is hard to be merry
When all things don't go right.

II

It's not hard to be merry
When all things will go right,
When there's nothing contrary
And you're filled with delight.

It's not hard to be merry
And just have a glad smile,
And can cease to be wary
Of the rocks in life's mile.

It's not hard to be merry
And to say jolly things,
When the gladness don't vary
And your heart always sings.

It's not hard to be merry
When the sun's always bright,
And when life is not dreary
In the day or at night.

It's not hard to be merry
When you've got a good friend,

ATHENAEUM ORGANIZES FORSECOND SEMESTER

George W. Roberts Elected
President

If an enthusiastic semi-annual meeting is any indication that a successful term will follow, the second semester of 1928-29 will be outstanding in the history of the Athenaeum.

A good attendance gave assurance of renewed interest. The president, J. Walter Goos, presided and the meeting at once directed its attention towards business. In reference to a question which arose from the reading of the minutes, the librarian, H. Casselman, reported that a number of books of latest interest had been added to the Athenaeum Library. The Society, he stated, had also subscribed to the National Geographic Magazine and the Literary Digest, which are being placed in the reading room. As it was felt that the list of periodicals in the reading room was still insufficient to satisfy all desires, the society decided that the Kitchener Daily Record should be added to the list.

A short political campaign resulted in the election of the following members to executive positions:
Honorary President—Prof. R. J. E. Hirtle.

President—George W. Roberts.
Vice-President—Lloyd Schaus.
Sec.-Treas.—Herbert Casselman.
Librarian—Harold Crouse.

Following the election of officers the question as to what would be the most suitable type of programme

Just the one who will carry
Your true love to the end.

III

But it's great to be happy
When all things do go wrong,
And you really should be sorry
Yet your heart's filled with song.

But it's great to be happy
When you really are sad,
Yet can feel good and peppy
And can show that you're glad.

But it's great to be happy
And to say jolly things,
And to keep folks from worry;
Watch the gladness it brings.

But it's great to be happy
Learn to smile all the day,
Learn to make someone merry
And so drive cares away.

But it's great to be happy
When you've lost your best friend,
Let none know that you're sorry;
Find another in the end.

was ventilated. While some were of the opinion that outside talent would appeal to the members, others maintained that it was the purpose of the Athenaeum to develop local talent. Finally the Society decided upon a compromise between these two opinions.

gue, and how Rev. Paulson took this to heart. He portrayed him as a simple, God-fearing and self-sacrificing minister, in whose heart the call from his friends went so deeply that he founded the Seminary at Kropp. Then Dr. Schorten showed how the Seminary grew and gave an idea of the great number of preachers that came from Kropp to Canada and to the United States.

The speaker then contrasted the student life at Kropp to that at Waterloo College. He said that they did not have the comfortable and modern accommodations that we have here. Nevertheless, he enjoyed his one year at Kropp more than any year while attending university.

In conclusion Dr. Schorten gave us his first impression of America, which was not a good one, for America was different from Germany, and to make matters worse, he did not know a single soul when he landed in New York.

W. Koerber, the president, then gave a speech on "Education." He stated that education did not consist only of book knowledge, but also of the practical. He said that in the different societies in the school and elsewhere, one can get some practical experience, and that the College Cord gave excellent opportunities to put one's knowledge to a test.

Following this, H. Enns told a story of a young man in Revolutionary Russia. The young man was inexperienced and was misled by a band of robbers. Later he found that life was not as he first thought.

The concluding speech was made by A. Pauli. He spoke on Hercules, the mythical Greek, renowned for his heroic achievements.

This concluded the programme. In the discussion of business, it was decided not to have a public programme this year. The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of a few German songs.

Hubby: "It seems, my dear, there is something wrong with this cake."

Wife: "That shows what you know about it. The cook book says it's perfectly delicious."

A. DATARS, B. A., SPEAKS ON LUTHERAN LITURGY

Interesting Address Given At Devotional Meeting Of St. John's Lutheran League

At the devotional meeting on Monday evening the Luther League of St. John's Lutheran Church, Waterloo, were privileged to hear Mr. Albert Datars of the Seminary in an interesting and instructive address on the Lutheran liturgy. The Leaguers had decided to make their devotional meetings more educative and conducive to better attendance by having outside speakers speak on a topic which would be at the same time interesting and of a practical nature. Mr. Datars' speech was the introduction to this series of addresses.

"What is divine worship?" were his opening words. He clearly and effectively pointed out to the deeply interested and attentive audience that divine worship is the observance of every rite or ceremony by means of which God communes with men. Worship, he said, could be put into two classes, true and false worship. True worship is that which is done in spirit whereas false worship is the paying of divine honours to false gods such as idols, nature, and ancestors. Idolatry is to-day carried on chiefly by the Hindoos, nature-worship by the Greeks, and ancestral-worship by the Chinese. Furthermore false worship can be, and is, carried on among Christians. This is the false worship of the true God.

Continuing he enlarged upon Christian worship. The Christian religion is the only true and absolute religion and in it true worship is possible. As a Church rests upon the person and works of Christ so does its worship. At this point he differentiated between the two kinds of Christian worship, sacramental and sacrificial, saying that sacrificial is that form of worship in which God gives to us and sacrificial that form in which we give to God. He also offered an explanation of the work of the minister in each and added a brief discussion on the meaning and use of the Introit.

Concluding he treated the Common Service as to its purpose, use, and meaning. This, he said, embodies all true common worship of the pure Christian Church of all ages. Secondly, it has been adopted by most of the Lutheran synods throughout the world. It also affords a common ground for all congregational worship.

The close attention and concentration upon the subject shown by the audience were evidences of the interestingness of Mr. Datars' address.

Being good is such a lonesome job, but it pays big dividends.

College Team Weakened By
Accidents And Illness

By defeating Waterloo College at Kitchener on Feb. 4th, the Galt "Y" team won the group title and the privilege to meet Woodstock in the semi-finals.

The College was handicapped in its last two games and as a result made a rather poor showing.

Waterloo College's basketball team were defeated at Guelph on Saturday, February 2nd, to the tune of 51-29. The boys were working under serious handicaps such as close checking and poor refereeing, but nevertheless their spirits were not so seriously dampened, and considering the circumstances the boys did very well.

Waterloo College Versus Galt "Y"

In a somewhat slow game of the intermediate O. A. B. A. series at the Kitchener "Y" on Saturday, Feb. 9, the Waterloo College basketball team were defeated by the Galt "Y" cagers. Louis Hagey, the College star forward, was unable to play. This may explain the defeat as well as the slowness of the game.

In the first period, Gaskin of the Galt squad scored the major part of the baskets, while Imrie, the College centre man was the star of the College team. Towards the end of the first period, the game became somewhat livelier. The first period ended with the score 8-9 in favour of the "Y".

In the second period, Brown, Henderson and Kelly made five more baskets, while the College failed to improve their score. The game ended with a score of 8-19 in favour of the Galt "Y".

Line-up—

Waterloo College — Forwards, Klinck, Goos; centre, Imrie; guards, Baetz, Buehlow; sub, Scherbarth.

Galt "Y"—Forwards, Henderson, Gaskin; centre, Norman; guards, Knowles, Brown; subs, Kelly, Roelofson, Anderson.

Livy; in poetry, selected portions from Vergil's Aeneid, and Odes from Horace. This is just sufficient to prepare a student for those courses which at present he seems destined never to get. For this reason we hope that we may be in a position in the near future to add Latin 30 and 40 to our present courses. In these the student reads more extensively from: Cicero, Catullus, Terence, Pliny, Tacitus, and Vergil. In these advanced courses in Latin and Greek the student gets an appreciation of the best classical literature of Greece and Rome. Here he has a colorful background for a deeper and broader study of modern literature and science.

COLLEGE CHURCH LEAGUERS WIN AGAINST ANGLICANS

Waterloo College Obtained Lead Only Within A Few Second Of The End Of The Game.

When the Waterloo College team stepped on the K-W "Y" gym floor on Saturday evening, Feb. 16, to play against the St. John's Anglican squad, it is doubtful whether any of the players had any hopes of victory. To the College team, which had not won a single game in the series, the name, St. John's meant almost certain defeat, for St. John's had beaten Trinity, under which Waterloo had suffered defeat.

When the shrill, ominous sound of the whistle had died away, the players took their respective positions. The ball was tossed up. The whistle blew again, and the game was on.

At the outset, it looked as if another defeat were staring at the College squad. The opposing team seemed to have the best of the play, though not by a wide margin. In the first period Crouse, Shantz, Neff, and Scherbarth each scored one basket. The period ended with St. John's leading by four points, the score being 12-8.

In the second period, fate seemed to be on the side of the College. The Waterloo squad had tasted something akin to victory. Like carnivora, that have tasted blood, the College cagers had tasted victory, and now pursued it relentlessly. Slowly the forwards raised the score. The defence men, encouraged by this, covered their men tenaciously. In spite of all this determination on both sides, very few penalties were handed out. In fact, it was one of the cleanest, if not the cleanest game that the College has played in this series.

Just before the final whistle blew, Schantz made the last basket. This brought the score to 20-19 in favour of Waterloo College. Although all of the players did extremely well, H. Scherbarth was perhaps the outstanding player on the College team.

In view of the fact that some of the College O. A. B. A. players will play on this team in the second round, Waterloo College has a good chance to win the Church League series.

SPORT DOPE

By

A. WHISPER

If some of the house-league captains had a clear idea of what real sport is, they would certainly show it in their spirit. To date there have been two games defaulted on account of the captains of two of the teams. Come on, fellows, let's show a little more sport in the game!

Whoopie! Our Church League team has at last shaken itself free of its evil genius or jinx, if you will. The victory last Saturday certainly has elated the spirits of our team. It is our only win in the first schedule. In the second schedule, however, we're going to win several games. Just watch our fourth dimension.

St. John's were out to win, last Tuesday, but fortune seems to have deserted them. They played a fine game though, and it took the best in our team to out-play them. Herb Heer showed his usual speed throughout the whole game.

Our O.A.B.A. team was rather dejected over the loss of their last game. The fact that Hagey couldn't play somewhat dampened the spirits of our team. Consequently the playing was rather slow. Never mind the defeat though—such things will happen to the best team, you know.

COLLEGE SEXTETTE DEFEATS ST. PETER'S

Waterloo College Wins

Third Victory In L.H.L.

The College sextette registered its third victory on Jan. 31 when they defeated the St. Peter's aggregation, their nearest rival in the Lutheran Hockey League by the decisive score of 8-1. The College had the best of the play throughout the game, and almost every one of their goals was the result of combination efforts.

To pick out individual stars on the College line up is almost impossible. Shelley, Shantz, and Baetz on the forward line made many dangerous attacks. Eifert and Witzel on defence frustrated many of the St. Peter attacks, and also did some fine rushing. Imrie in goal was impregnable and prevented almost sure counters. Schroeder and Albrecht when used also showed to good effect.

The game was clean throughout and only one penalty was handed out by referee Herr. The St. Peter team put up a game fight and were rather unlucky not to score. On several occasions they broke through only to be robbed of counters by Imrie. Berlet and Hiller were the pick of the losers.

The first period did not produce many thrills as both teams played a rather defensive game. Play moved up and down the ice and the College forwards made several fine attempts. On one of these sallies Witzel scored but he was called offside. Hiller, St. Peter defenceman, made several fine rushes and was rather unlucky not to score. Baetz with his wicked back-hand shot let drive at the goalie who made a wonderful save. Shelley passed to Baetz who shoved the "pill" past Fellbaum. The period ended 1-0 for the College.

In the second period the College team gave their supporters plenty of opportunity for cheering. They went on the ice with the determination to score and in this respect were very successful. Baetz, Witzel and Shelley were the successful scorers. Waterloo had the greater part of the play during this period and deserved the five goals which they scored. The period ended 6-0 for the College.

In the third period St. Peters got their only counter. After a fine rush by Berlet the puck was discovered in the College net. However Baetz and Shantz added two more goals to the College total and the game ended 8-1 in the College's favour.

Nolting: "Say, Ide, how do you spend most of your time?"

M. Ide: "In two ways. Trying to make my work lighter and trying to make my lighter work."

Crouse (very confidentially): "You know boys, I'd give a thousand dollars to be a millionaire."

Neff: "I play a piano just to kill time."

Scherbarth: "You sure have a good weapon."

The third meeting of the Laury Literary Society was held on Monday, February 4th, 1929. The program consisted of speeches, an essay and a recitation on the life and works of Shakespeare. Speeches were rendered by W. Nolting and A. Little. M. Neeb gave a recitation. After Mr. Foreman had given his remarks of criticism the meeting was closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

On February 11th, 1929, the program for the Laury Literary Society was in the form of a debate. The subject was: "Resolved That Preparation for War Is a Guarantee of Peace."

The affirmative was upheld by O. Alberti and G. Albrecht; the negative by W. Hamm and S. Alberti.

Mr. Elfert and Mr. Foreman kindly consented to judge the debate. After the debate was concluded, Mr. Elfert presented the judges report stating that the negative side had won the decision. Following this Mr. Foreman gave a few remarks of criticism. The meeting was then adjourned in the usual manner.

The election of officers of the society for the second semester was held on January 31st, 1929. The following officers were elected: Hon. President, Dr. Schorten; President, William Nolting; Vice-President, H. Scherbarth; Secretary, E. Dietsche; Censor, S. Alberti. Dr. Schorten then made a few remarks, stating that he was well pleased with the way the retiring officers had conducted the society during the first semester. The meeting was then adjourned with the singing of the College Song.

COLLEGE ALUMNI NEWS

The Alumni Column has come to life again. We hope it will not fade away a second time for lack of nourishment.

A very fruitful meeting of the Executive Council was held on Saturday, February 14th. Between snores and smart remarks some really interesting business was transacted.

The Nominating Committee, whose duty it is to present nominations for the offices of the association for the coming year, 1929-1930, has been elected as follows: Prof. R. J. E. Hirtle (chairman), Mr. J. G. Hagey, and Mr. A. J. Datars.

Professors H. L. Henkel and E. C. Shelley will be the scrutineers to record the results of the letter ballot which will be held during the first part of May.

Note!

The date of the annual general meeting for 1929 has been set for Tuesday, May 28. Will you be present? A live program is assured.

Subject to approval at the annual meeting, the following motion was adopted: "That, at the annual banquet, a rebate be given to all paid-up members present, such rebate not to exceed one dollar, depending upon the price per plate."

We had a very friendly letter from Arthur (Pat) Zilliax a few days ago. Pat is attending Osgoode Hall and is enjoying it immensely, although he claims that he is kept very busy. He says, "Some of the profs. think we should be judges already." However, we believe Pat will not fail to use his spare moments in having a good time. The Osgoode Hall dance, hours 9.30 p.m. to 5 a.m., sounds promising to say the least. Pat wishes to be remembered to his Waterloo College friends.

As we go to press, two of our members, Dr. C. H. Little and Rev. H. L. Henkel, are confined to their homes through illness. We wish each of them a speedy recovery.

With Apologies to Mr. G. Orth it must be remarkable, and wondrous too,

What one year or two in the College will do,
To make of a guy whom societies ban,
A cultured, refined and slick gentleman.

But I'm from Missouri! You'll have to show me!
So be an example of what you decree
And though in this world you may rise very high,
Remember you too were a "College School guy".

College Well Represented

St. Peter's Luther League of Preston very graciously included in the list of those invited to attend the skating party in Preston, the students of this institution. At this party which was held on the evening of Feb. 11, there were present the Luther Leagues of St. Matthew's, First English and St. Peter's churches of Kitchener, St. John's of Waterloo, and the leagues from Hamilton, Galt, Hespeler, Guelph, St. Jacobs, Elmira and Conestoga. There was a total of 300 leaguers present.

After skating from 8 to 10 o'clock everyone hastened to the basement of the church where refreshments were served. The basement was prettily decorated with the Luther League colours—black, red, white, blue, gold. During the course of the refreshments the various leagues expressed their high spirits by yells. It is, however, generally conceded, we believe, that the yells of the College boys exceeded by far, both in volume and pep, those of all the leagues present. Preston is to be congratulated on the excellent manner in which they handled such a large crowd.

Following the lunch a few words were spoken by Harry Stockfish, president of the Preston league, Rev. Knauf, the pastor, E. Berner, president of the Luther League of Canada, Rev. Melenbacher, general secretary, and J. Lauman, vice-president and editor. The boys of Waterloo College wish to take this opportunity to thank the Preston League for the enjoyable time they had skating, the excellent lunch, and for the many new acquaintances they made.

large number of boots and shoes manufactured and the extent of the trade. In the various departments the visitors were impressed by the speed and accuracy of the employees and the mass production of the plant. Particular interest was shown by the party when they were directed through the laboratory. Here the work of the factory is performed on a miniature scale. Various forms of rubber are tested every day so as to be certain that no defective shipment of rubber goods is made.

After spending two hours of interesting visitation the students had gained some insight into the manufacture of rubber footwear. On behalf of those present from Waterloo College Dean Froats expressed his thanks for the privilege which had been given to them.

It was a very educative morning

COLLEGE SKATERS ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

Annual Skating Party Is Gala Event

It's all over now! All except the disappointment which still lingers in the hearts of some of the Waterloo and Kitchener girls because they received no invitation to the Annual College Skating Party. But cheer up, girls! Perhaps you'll have better luck next year!

Despite a heavy downfall of snow, about twenty-four couples gathered on the evening of Feb. 5, to enjoy the College Skating Party.

A large panatrophe supplied music for the skaters with very satisfactory results. It could be heard even above the noise of the scrapers which several good-natured students kept in continuous motion in order to keep the ice clear of snow.

After the skating, lunch was served in the gymnasium of the school. It did not consist of "beans and coffee" as someone announced in a former edition of the Cord.

All that can be said is "a good time was had by all." We hope that the students, who made themselves conspicuous by their absence on account of the snow, are also in the position to say this.

wound his way up the ice and passed from behind the goal to Baetz who easily tallied. The spirits of the College players revived. They had a start! The game now became a little rougher and penalties were handed out to Witzel and Knapp. More combination was being played and the College had the edge of the play towards the end of the second period.

In the third period both sides worked hard and the play was fairly even. On a scramble in front of St. John's net Albrecht showed his alertness and lodged the puck into the net. It was a toss-up now who should win but Eifert settled the doubt. He got the puck and with lightning speed skated up the ice and shot. The puck reached its destination and much to Dahmer's surprise, it was resting in the net. St. John's goalie became sore now and much to the amusement of the on-lookers, flung his stick away. The game ended 3-2 for the College.

DR. LITTLE INJURED IN SKATING MISHAP

Profs. Aksim And Henkel
Also Take Short Rest

It is our duty this week to report that several of our professors have been confined to their homes through sickness. While enjoying himself skating on the College rink about two weeks ago Dr. Little had the misfortune to collide with a young lad who in the act of chasing a puck did not pay much attention to where he was going. As a result Dr. Little was forcibly thrown on the ice suffering severe injuries from the fall. A blood-vessel burst above the knee and resulted in swelling and stiffening of the leg. Several ligaments were also torn and consequently several weeks rest in bed were necessary. The worthy Doctor, however, showed his willingness to work by having the Seminarians come over to his house to receive lectures.

Professor Aksim was also confined to his bed for several days last week, but his impatient and intense desire to drive some Greek and Hebrew into the Junior Seminarians soon restored him to the best of health.

Rev. Henkle, the Professor of Philosophy, has given the philosophical minds of his scholars a rest by his inability to attend his lectures for the last few days. It seems that Prof. Henkle has been doing much more work than one can or should carry and as a result he has had something akin to a nervous breakdown. He is, however, progressing favourably and soon will be able to tell us all about Socrates and Plato. All the students join in wishing him a speedy return to his former good health.

COLLEGE STUDENTS AS LUTHER LEAGUERS

A VINDICATION

Waterloo College,
Waterloo, Ontario,
Feb. 21, 1929

To the Editor of The College Cord,
Waterloo, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

If you will allow me space in your valuable paper I would like to correct a false impression concerning the activities of College students in Luther League work which exists not only in Waterloo but apparently in other centres.

In a comment on the annual banquet of St. John's Luther League Waterloo, a visitor from another League made the following statement: "A number of college students were present. It was explained to me that the students were members of St. John's Luther League whenever there was a social function—not otherwise." Just who so kindly gave out this information I do not know; but to whomsoever it may be and to any others who may be of this opinion permit me to cite a few facts which will give you something definite from which to form your opinions.

A close investigation shows that the majority of Lutheran students of this institution are members of one of the Luther Leagues in the Twin Cities. That they take an active part in the various activities, which consists in more than fulfilling gluttonous desires, will readily be seen from the fact that College students have from time to time been elected to executive positions in recognition of their faithfulness. During the past year no less than five students of this institution were members of Luther League executives. This year the presidents of both St. Matthew's and St. John's Leagues have been chosen from the College ranks. A third student is a member of the executive of the First English Luther League.

I hope the readers of the "Cord," especially Luther Leaguers, will feel that College students are interested in Luther League work. The Luther League of Canada has always been very sympathetic towards Waterloo Seminary and College. Through these words I merely wish to emphasize that the students of that institution appreciate your endeavours and are joining with you in your great work, "Of the Church, By the Church, For the Church."

Yours very sincerely,

A College Luther Leaguer.

Ha! ha! mystery shrouds us; we must solve it. Ah! ah! tragedy, we must laugh or we will die. But how? What? Have you not heard of the great event that is to be? Ere long, it will be "was" and then you will suffer great disconsolations for having missed the one opportunity to experience at one and the same time the pangs of tragedy, the intensity of mystery followed by exhilarating laughter.

Be serious, friends; this affair is of a grave nature. It must be settled and readers (if you are not a reader, ask the man who is one) are to be subjected—if you have the proper qualifications—to an intensely interesting, highly humorous,

STUDENT EXONERATED

While on his way to the basketball game at Guelph on February 2nd., Albert Lotz was stopped by the traffic officer and charged with reckless driving. The accused was coming down a slight incline, and passing a parked car when called upon to stop. The officer claims that Lotz skidded for a considerable distance before he was able to comply with the demand. Lotz however maintains he did not realize that the officer was signalling him, and consequently did not attempt to stop until he was a considerable distance past the traffic guardian. Both sides of the case were heard by the Guelph magistrate the following Saturday, and finding no evidence for a conviction, dismissed the case.
