Waterloo Alumni Headed Back For Homecoming

University Tenders Royal Reception To Governor-General

Over 2,000 students braved the cold weather to witness Their Excellencies, Governor-General Vanier, and Madame Vanier, pay an official visit to WLU campus November 7. The vice-regal party arrived at 11:15 a.m., proceeded by a police escort. Flag-waving children from surrounding public schools, and college students gave Their Excellencies tremendous ovation as they stepped from the cadillacs to acknowledge the reception. This was quite unexpected as the party was scheduled to pay only a brief visit to WLU. The guard of honour, formed by the COTC saluted the visitors as they approached the Theatre-Auditorium. Having been presented to Their Excellencies, Dr. Villaume presented President William J. Villaume smiles approval as Student Council President Ron Erb gets a Vice-Regal handshake.

Harry Greb, Chairman of the Board of Governors, Deans Morgenson and Schaus, and Ron Erb, President of Students' Council to Governor Vanier.

Miss Brandon, Dean of Women, was presented to Madame Vanier. Students Alice Cho, Miata Beysolow, June Blake and Simitka Murto were in turn introduced to Her Excellency.

It was apparent that Governor Vanier was quite overcome by the school children's welcome as he spoke from the steps of the Auditorium.

"The future of Canada lies in your hands," he said, directing his words to children and college students alike. Governor Vanier emphasized the fact that the world has been placed in a sorry state by its present leaders.

"I hope the present generation will make an improvement", he continued.

New Campus Queen Crowned At Big Soph Formal Dance

Roxanna Hampel a green-eyed blonde was crowned Campus Queen at the Soph Formal Friday night.

A senior, from Pembroke, Roxanna is majoring in English, with a minor in sociology. Her future will be in high school teaching.

Campus activities include Secretary-Treasurer for the Athletic Directorate, Athletic Representative on Student Council and Public Relations for the Student Union Board of Governors. She is also secretary for the Girls Athletic Society, a member of the Cord Staff, the Progressive Conservative Club and the Lutheran Student Movement.

Roxanna, "very surprised and honoured" was crowned by last year's Campus Queen, Donna Muir. The Queen's attendants were Pauline Thompson of Atwood and Miriam Calvert of Brampton.

Big Drive On To Pack P&G

The 1962 P and G Show is only one week away. Ticket sales for the first week were approximately 33% of the capacity. The remaining portion must be sold to guarantee success. With the seating capacity much greater this year, everybody must sell tickets. An individual prize of $10 is offered as well as a $25 club prize. Tickets are available in the main lobby of the Arts Building from 10:00 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. Everybody support Purple and Gold!

Next Saturday will be one of the most important dates on the University's calendar. On Saturday, November 17th, our honorable ancestors, the Alumni, come home.

For the past two years, Alumni Homecoming has been held in conjunction with the Ice Carnival. The first year it was probably a good idea, as both events were new and needed building up. Now, however, each one is a major event in itself and competes one against the other when held at the same time.

During the period following the separation of the Associated Faculties of Waterloo College (now the University of Waterloo), from Waterloo College (now Waterloo University College), the Alumni Association went through a very trying period. Today this University has a good solid Alumni Association based on a firm foundation. A few faithful alumni picked up the pieces and slowly rebuilt the organization. Henry Gossen, class of '58, held meeting after meeting with only five or six members present. But, with the assistance of stalwart henchmen like Ayrton Kipp, Olive Bolton, Bob Damman, Joyce Meckbach and a few more, communications were re-established with 3000 ex-Waterloos now scattered on five continents.

This year's president is Bev Hayes, head of Hayes Advertising in Waterloo, and he has applied the same effervescent, irrepressible qualities in his leadership of the alumni that he demonstrated as a student on this campus some thirteen years ago.

Those of us who walk this campus today as students will within a short space of time join the ranks of the alumni. It is in our own interest to get to know them, to make friends with them. They have already tested their metal against the world outside and stand ready to give us a hand in getting our own careers launched.

The homecoming herd will start filing into the paddock at 1:00 p.m. on Saturday and for the next two hours they will see at close quarters the many changes instituted on our campus in the last twelve months. Jim Kent and Gary Slimmon may be asking several of you to actively participate in making this campus tour meaningful to our elder statesmen. Please cooperate in every way you can to make a success of the different events scheduled. At 3:00 p.m. the Purple and Gold show will rehearse with orchestra for the benefit of the visitors. The Annual Alumni business meeting will be held from 3:30 to 4:00 p.m. in the Student Union Building. From 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m., the faculty will be "At-Home" to the Alumni in the recreation room of the women's residence.

At 6:30 p.m. the annual banquet will be held in the dining hall and the Alumni Man of the Year, Mr. John E. Brent of Toronto, will speak. At 9:00 p.m., everyone, and I do mean everyone, will head out to Bingeman Park to dance to the sophisticated music of Bill Wolfe and his twelve cubs. There will be an intermission show starring Phil Schaus and the campus folk singers.

Senior students are urged to get in touch with Jim Kent and pick up their free tickets today so that he can make a final report to the Alumni ticket committee.

Selected Alumnus Of The Year

Over the years, students from Waterloo College have made their mark in every field of human endeavour. To point out the achievements of some of our distinguished sons and daughters, the Alumni Association will make a presentation each year to the man or woman that they select as the Alum of the year.

At the Homecoming Weekend, November 17th, Mr. John E. Brent, President of IBM in Canada will be named the "Alumnus of the Year". Born in Brantford, Mr. Brent attended Waterloo College in the boom and bust year of 1929, receiving his degree from the University of Western Ontario. He joined IBM as a student salesman in July, 1931. After serving in various sales and sales managerial positions, he was promoted to Vice-President of IBM in Canada in 1949. In 1950, he was appointed Vice-President of IBM World Trade Corporation, New York and General Manager for Europe with headquarters in Paris. In 1954, he was appointed Vice-President and General Manager and a Director of IBM World Trade Corporation with headquarters in New York. In 1959 he became Executive Vice-President of IBM World Trade Corporation with headquarters in New York. Mr. Brent was named President of IBM in Canada in January 1962. He continues as a Vice-President and Director of IBM World Trade Corporation.

Mr. Brent is a member of the Advisory Board on International Business of the Chemical Bank New York Trust Company, and is a Vice-President and Director of the University of Western Ontario Foundation (New York). He is a member of the following clubs: The Engineers' Club of Montreal, Canadian Club of New York, Canadian Society of New York, Granite Club of Montreal, Empire Club of Canada, Newcomen Society of North America.

We join the Alumni in congratulating Mr. Brent on his success in the world of business and thank him for adding lustre to the appellation "Waterloo Alumnus".

English Debaters Jolly Fellows

Debating is an art sorely neglected on campus!

This fact was made quite obvious by two visiting United Kingdom debaters, David Prior-Palmer and Alan Andrew, who participated in a debate at WLU on November 9.

The topic discussed was "There is no independence in the world today".

Speaking for the affirmative Palmer argued that nations today as well as individuals have little independence because their actions are governed by convention. He cited an amusing incident that took place at an Oxford Union debate when a logician was speaking on the independence of students. Concerning curfew hours the logician said nothing that is done by a young man between 10 p.m. and 11 p.m. cannot be done between 9 p.m. and 10 p.m. "Bun", cried a female member of the audience, "between 10 p.m. and 11 p.m. it can be done again." Palmer's mimicry further revealed his debating ability.

For the opposition Andrew stated that if no rational choice exists individuals cannot be held responsible for their actions.

In forwarding his case Andrew included an anecdote of how the two debaters first met. He told of his visit to Palmer's apartment, and after asking the landlady if David Palmer lived there, she replied from above, "Yes, bring him up!"

June Blake and Pout MacDonald seconded the guest-speakers respectively.

The result of the debate was not only a two to one decision in favour of the affirmative side, but the fact that there is much need for refinement of debating technique on campus if the standard set by the guest-speakers is to be reached.

Voice Of The Students

VIEWPOINT

By Gary Slimmon

The following scene takes place in the living room of an upper-middle-class home. Two days before the action, Mrs. Goodheart had read in the newspaper that the week coming up was Brotherhood Week. And so she had taken it upon herself to invite to dinner a Negro student, Robert Jones, who lived a few doors away. As the play opens, the Goodhearts are awaiting the arrival of their dinner-guest.

Mrs. G.: I do hope everything goes all right. I want Mr. Jones to feel at home with us.

Mr. G.: I am sure everything will be fine my dear—unless your brother Clarence, decides to drop in. He's not very tolerant of Negroes, you know.

Mrs. G.: Yes, but I'm certain that Mr. Jones would understand. (knock, and as Mr. G. opens door, Robert Jones steps in.)

Mrs. G. (after formal greeting has Robert sit down and asks): How are you enjoying our weather? I imagine it is quite different from that of your country.

R.J.: My country?

Mr. G.: Yes, I should think you'd be used to a warmer climate.

R.J.: No; you see, I was born in this country. As a matter of fact, so were my parents and grandparents.

Mrs. G.: Isn't that funny, Harold? Mr. Jones is a third generation Canadian and I was born in England. You might say that he has more right to be here than I! Then I suppose that you live very much the same as we do.

R.J.: I'm afraid I don't understand what you mean.

Mrs. G.: Well, I mean that you believe in the same sort of things we do.

R.J.: Yes, certainly. Why shouldn't I?

Mrs. G.: Well, you are . . . I mean, you . . .

R.J.: I am a Negro? Yes, I am, but I don't see how that concerns my beliefs.

Mr. G.: What my wife means to say, Robert, is that we white people generally consider your people to have certain qualities that we lack. For example, an innate sense of music, a more profound emotionalism and sensitivity.

R.J.: Well first of all, I take exception to the term "your people". My people are Canadians. I'm sure that you don't refer to the English, the Germans, and the Americans as "your people" just because they are white. Secondly, I'm sorry to disappoint you, but neither I nor anyone in my family can sing or play a single note of music. As concerns a supposed Negro emotionalism, I think you'll find the Southern Whites of the U.S.A. for more emotional and hot-headed than any Negro. As a matter of fact, the Southern Negro has been so far trodden underfoot that he is now lying back in an almost total apathy. It is only certain white people such as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, that insist upon stirring up the Negro population by constantly reminding them of rights they already know they have. Even the high-minded people of this group show an unconscious prejudice by using the word "colored". The Southern Negro is not colored; I am not colored; we are black! We are as far from being colored as any white man that ever lived. I'm sorry if I have destroyed what you were thinking before my arrival.

Mrs. G.: What was I thinking?

R.J.: You were thinking and hoping that I would show myself to be no different than any other human being. For isn't that what you don't like to have shown to you—that everyone is completely different from everyone else?—not only in skin color but in personality and creed. No one wants to have it pointed out to him that someone is different from him because that shows that he is likewise different from someone else and he doesn't want to be different. He wants to conform and anything which announces to him that he cannot do so causes him to bear a grudge or to be outwardly or inwardly hostile toward that obstacle.

Mrs. G.: But surely my husband and I are not that sort of people. We have always considered ourselves to be very tolerant.

R.J.: Tolerant? Tolerance is an ugly word. It presupposes a suppressed hostility. What it means is that you are saying, "I am white, you are black. You despise me and I hate you. But we are living in the same world, so we've got to get along." It's a type of cold war with hate and prejudice as the only ammunition.

Mrs. G.: But it is only Christian to love a fellow man.

R.J.: It may be Christian, but it is impossible until you recognize that all men are NOT the same. Brotherhood Week and the NAACP refuse to see this difference and insist upon trying to make the Negro look white, the white man black, the red yellow, and the yellow red. I would like to see anyone convince a Negro that he is white. He is proud of the fact that he is black just as you are proud of being white. It's a simple case of pride and anyone who tries to destroy that pride is as damned as the person who takes a rifle or a rope and destroys a human life.

Maid, a Negress (from the kitchen door): Dinner is ready.

Mr. G.: Fine!—What are we having?

Maid: Humble pie.

Corruption

To The Editor: I think the student of WUC should be thoroughly ashamed of themselves with regard to the current election "madness". In my opinion, every single student in this school should take a course in Politics.

The recent voting and election campaign have shown that even members of the respective political parties and the Politics Club on campus need a refresher course on the rules and aspects of political warfare.

Here are my views on the current "craze":

1. Liberals—too much entertainment.
2. Conservatives—too much "B. John."
3. NDP—too much "pout", "pout", "pout", etc.
4. Social Credit—too many promises.
5. Politics Club—too much disorganization.

Consequently, let's hope next year we will improve on our present election campaigns since everyone will have taken a course in politics (I hope). By the way, I am a staunch member of the Liberal Club.

Disillusioned, Frustrated
Freshman.

Model Parliament

After a vigorous election campaign for Model Parliament, 70 per cent of our student body turned out on Wed. to vote.

A discussion was held the day following the election with representatives from all four parties and the Politics Club. It was felt that since this was a Model Parliament we should set a good example by following proper election procedures.

The Politics Club proved conclusively that there was absolutely no skull-duggery involved. The reason for the invalidation of the election was due to improper electoral procedure.

The irregularities were:

- (1) no lock on the ballot box
- (2) insufficient ballots
- (3) insufficient ballot boxes
- (4) incomplete voters lists
- (5) ballots counted at noon

At Random

PETE REMPEL

Tradition plays a very important role in the life at WUC.

Events such as the upcoming P & G and the Winter Carnival, have spread the name of WLU and given it a reputation among the local citizenry and others. Another tradition, the kidnapping of the President of the Soph Class at the end of initiation week, also has its part in campus life, (exactly what this part is, neither Paul Enns nor Dave Robertson have yet figured out.)

The Waterloo College "offspring", as Dr. Hagey once referred to the institution over the hill, is busily establishing its own tradition.

Last year, the Board of Governors of that university announced that they were considering a change of name. After much free publicity in the press, the move died a quick death.

Again they are considering a change of name: the addition of Waterloo University to their present title.

Dr. Hagey, recently stated that one of the greatest problems facing the two institutions is the confusion of names.

Would not this move then be similar to pouring gasoline on the flames?

(or taking your brew to the Circ Room?)

Since both the U of W and WUC are running fund drives, there is a present a tendency among the donors to make the cheques out merely to "Waterloo University", a title held by neither university. But the fine university to acquire this title will reap the benefits of the misundestanding.

And, as Dr. Hagey recently said in a heart rending display of loyalty, by virtue of their co-operative engineering programme, the title Waterloo University should be granted to the university which has contributed much more to local prestige and education.

Yeah-h-h!

As this move has progressed to the stage where it will be introduced shortly into the Ontario legislature, we hope the administration of WUC will do their part to prevent this move—another attempt on the part of the U of W to "bury us".

Is it true that the COTC on campus is about to be taken over and transformed into the military arm of the Estonian Club?

Mac Sponsors Festival

The Student Union at McMaster University sponsored a Festival of the Arts on the weekend of November 2-4. This was the first undertaking of its kind in the history of McMaster.

The Festival's theme was "Social Significance in the Arts". The schedule of the weekend's events was planned to show how this significance manifests itself. Performers and entertainers presented programs of some important art forms and speakers discussed the interrelation of art and society.

On the Friday evening, the University Alumnae Players presented the premiere performance of James Reaney's verse play "The Easter Egg". Mr. Reaney is a professor of English at the University of Western Ontario. A Canadian artist, also from Western, Tony Urquhart discussed his own paintings and graphics which were on display.

Dr. F. R. Scott, Dean of Law at McGill read selections from his poetry and also read his translations of French Canadian poets.

On Saturday afternoon, a program of one act plays was put on by the McMaster Dramatic Society and the Ontario Agricultural College of Guelph. The first play was Jules Pyffer's "Crawling Arnold" which is a satirical comment on modern bomb shelters. The controversial drama by Eugene Ionesco, "The Chairs" was also included in the program.

The keynote address of the weekend was given by Dr. Millar MacLure of Victoria College, University of Toronto.

The highlight of the weekend and also the final event was a concert by the Hamilton Philharmonic Orchestra with guest pianist William Aidie.

McMaster is to be congratulated on an excellent festival and it is hoped that other universities will consider this as a worthy endeavour to be included in their extra-curricular events.

Dr. Brock Chisholm To Give University Lecture

Dr. Brock Chisholm, University Lecturer.

Next Tuesday, November 20th, Dr. Brock Chisholm of Victoria, B.C., will visit our campus. At 2:30 p.m. he will address students in the music room. The topic of his address is "The Nations Are Learning How To Live Together". This will be an informal chat about the United Nations and other international agencies and how they cooperate. There will be a question and answer period. Dr. Chisholm was formerly the Director-General of the World Health Organization and he has had a distinguished military and civil career in the service of Canada.

At 8:15 p.m. on Tuesday, Dr.

BLOCKADED

Better to have tried and lost Than never to have tried at all!

Grand Central Station? West Berlin? West Hall? New Arts Building? These are the suggestions put forward for the name for the new Men's Residence, the building formerly attached to the Auditorium.

The Administration favors the name West Hall; the inmates have narrowed their selection down to the remaining.

I was asked by the "Cord Staff" to make a statement as to the conditions in West Hall and so I'm going to be as objective as possible!

Until the occurrence of the recent Cuban crisis, I wasn't aware that the auditorium had placed us under quarantine. I thought it just didn't want us.

In a serious light, West Hall is a very nice residence. It has a beautiful foyer and staircase (which are quite noticeable since there is no furniture), and a very expensive intercom set (so that we may run downstairs to see if our next door neighbour is in). They tell us that variety is the spice of life and so our recreation room changes almost as quickly as the colour of a girl's hair. At first it was a barren waste, then it became a classroom. Last week it was a collection of far away places! What will tomorrow bring? Some furniture?!

The telephone system has been the brunt of most of the complaints from our students. It appears that there are three pay telephones on three floors and there is only one intercom on the bottom floor. In essence this means a call comes in on the top floor and to use our intercom we run down two flights of stairs to call the student to the third floor phone. Touché!

Last week a new menace arrived. It came in the form of a blockade. Not wishing to run down the emotional stability of our residents, I did wonder how they could get such a complex from an auditorium. They feel unwanted. Some have already left for mother's bosom.

Why was it installed? Only twenty chairs were missing and the hi-fi amplifier was returned after a week. We enjoyed having the Ladies Auxiliary meander through the residence at eleven p.m., as they wandered out back to the shed.

Not wishing to cause alarm, upon checking closely, it will be noticed that West Hall is also a divided building. The crack originally started beside the fire door on the third floor. At this rate we'll beat the Women's residence to King Street, cider mill or no cider mill!

New Clubs?

Several student assemblies ago many of the clubs on campus were asked to explain their aims and plans for the coming year. Unfortunately a few of the more important ones were not prepared for this massive rally, and, as a result, were omitted. To make up for this deficiency I have prepared the following synopsis of club activities and plans:

—The Scuba Club are planning to use the auditorium for their training programme if it sinks and fills with water as predicted by the ex-Geography Department.

—The Hands Off Cuba Club has been completely recognized but, unfortunately, it has been run off campus.

—The S.C.S.C. (Surreptitious Campus Sign Correctors) Club has increased its activities this year. This esoteric group performs a great service to all students by adding little witticisms to the notices on the bulletin boards and thus greatly increasing their clarity.

—The Ski Club has folded because they received a telegram from Prime Minister Nehru urgently requesting ski instructors to train Indian soldiers. The club president felt that the request could not be filled and, in order to save embarrassment, folded the club.

—The Circle W, the socially elite club on campus, has raised a great deal of money by the sale of birth certificates. The Circle W once again has big plans for this year but that's all—just big plans.

—The Forty-Three Beans in Every Cup Club has been folded by the administration because of its schismatic effort.

—The Board of Pubs also was folded by the administration when it found out that Pubs did not stand for publications.

Sobeit. I daresay many of the organizations on this campus have let themselves be known—perhaps in the best interests of the students. Nevertheless, we must remember that academics are only a small part of college life. Join a club and find out how insignificant academics really are.

WUS Plans

At the WUS executive meeting a proposal was made to set up an educational committee to develop the educational aspects of WUS. The committee would be comprised of students and faculty.

The executive was informed that Brenda Good will report on the annual seminar held this year in Poland at Assembly Nov. 20.

It was also reported that the annual mistletoe sale will be held on Dec. 18 and 19.

Psychology Club

Due to the success of the dance which was held last month at the Ontario Training School for Girls, the Psychology Club will sponsor another dance in Galt on November 29. We would like as many male club members as possible to attend.

A list will be posted on the Torque Room bulletin board for all wishing to come.

Film Society

Cinema '63, a film society recently formed on campus with the purpose of presenting artistically stimulating films—from comedy to tragedy—will have its first showing November 25, at 8:30 p.m. in the lounge of the Student Union Building.

Admission to the initial presentation will be 50c per person. Memberships will be available for the later films.

Zoologist To Visit

Dr. W. J. Tinkle, a zoologist from the United States, will speak in the Auditorium Nov. 16 during Chapel.

Dr. Tinkle will meet with any persons interested in discussing modern science and Christian faith at a luncheon in the upper part of the Dining Hall at noon Friday.

Students are invited to attend the evening lecture as well as the afternoon session.

Treasure Van Rolls Again

The first fund-raising activity of WUS "Treasure Van" was quite a success. A recent letter received from National Office revealed that sales this year surpassed those of previous years and were approximately $300 over last year's total. WUS at WUC does not profit from this. The money is sent to National Office and then distributed to universities which are in desperate need of funds—mainly those across the ocean.

A successful fund-raising campaign is the partial reward of a conscientious group of individuals—Individuals such as Walter Shrantz, Pete Home-nuck, Richard Rooke, Professor R. Langen and many, many others who gave up an hour or so of their time to help Treasure Van in any and every way. It is to these people that I extend my thank you for funds well raised.

"Christians today in the face of the bomb threat must be pacifists." Rev. Douglas Hall, Principal of St. Paul's College, U. of W., made this statement at a meeting of the I.V.C.F. on November 8th.

Rev. Hall explained by pacifism he did not mean lethargy; instead he urged Christians to join organizations with a constructive programme.

The three primary concerns of a Christian today should be Jesus Christ, the United Nations, and his own country, he continued. He should support the United Nations because it embodies the Church's conception of Internationalism.

Christians can't afford to remain silent, he concluded, when the world is begging for an answer to the question of the bomb.

Students may have to bear the cost of excessive damage caused by vandalism!

This was made apparent to Students' Council in a joint, and ratified statement of policy concerning damages, issued by the Students' Councils of U of W and WUC on November 7th.

In the case of indeterminate responsibility for excessive damage a special assessment may be levied the following year on students who are in attendance during the year in which the damage occurred. The responsibilities will be determined by the Students' Councils. The Students' Councils will, however, assume responsibility in the case of in excessive damage, and the cost may be divided between the two Students' Councils.

Each individual incident will be reported to both Students' Councils immediately, and in the case of determined responsibility the individual will be charged by the Students' Council of his university.

This policy applies as of December 1, during the academic year only.

The Finance Committee constitution states that budgets from any groups or organizations on campus desiring financial aid must be submitted at least one full week before the hearing.

Financial hearings will be conducted weekly (Oct. 1-Nov. 15) and no additional grants or loans will be made until the respective organization had had their financial book audited for that year.

At the same meeting the Council was informed that a statement concerning the opening of the Torque Room and the SUB would be made by Dr. Villaume on November 19.

A judicial committee, which will deal with all types of student behaviour detrimental to WUC, has been established.

The purpose of the committee is to protect the democratic rights of the individual student. Thus a student will be brought before the committee concerning charges, before he is heard by a higher body.

The committee will also investigate any misuse of finances by an organization when it requests financial aid from the Students' Council.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

Football—a note from the Athletic Director, or should I say, a plea: the school is missing FIVE footballs, and would, strange at it may seem, like them returned as soon as possible.

Don Brown whose name was omitted last week was also one of those who ended their football careers on Thursday Nov. 1st.

Hockey—the WUC HOCKEY HAWKS begin their 62-63 season this Thursday, Nov. 15, at the Siskin Arena at 7:00 p.m. We won't get another chance to see our team in action until Dec. 13th. So get out and see a much improved hockey team over last year.

Basketball—the following are the surviving members of the new edition of the B-Ball Hawks:

- Mike Brouseau John Leurs
- Gary Cuff Earl Lizon
- Doug Dart Allan Maclean
- Bob Eaton John Mackenzie
- Ernie Fazankas Gary Randall
- Jim Gollert Bob Turner
- Larry Hansen Murray Williamson
- Court Heinbeck Bob Woodburn

These fellows will start their season on Nov. 21, against OAC, in an exhibition game at Guelph.

Intramural Roundup—all those interested in participating in the following events: Basketball, Badminton, Volleyball, and Ping-Pong, check with Mr. Buendorf in his office. These sports will be played on an intra-mural basis throughout the year.

Clippers Win

Flag Football—last week the China Clippers won the league championship, remaining undefeated for the season when they whipped the Westhall Warriors, 18-12. The Clippers' scoring went as follows: Bob Plewman passed 20 yards to Ron Sullivan for the first touchdown. The second score came when Plewman hit Mike Rice with a swing pass of five yards; Mike then carried 60 yards for a TD. Colin Oke completed the Clipper scoring when he returned a punt 40 yards for six points.

For the Warriors, Gary Belgra intercepted a pass and ran 60 yards to score; teammate Dick Hotta also intercepted a Bob Plewman pass and raced 40 yards for a touchdown. Players for the Westhall Warriors were: G. Belgra, Bill Cartmill, Doug Brown, Bob Borthurn, Art West, Dick Hotta, Dick Hepp, and Doug Whyt. As the champions, we salute Colin Oke, Mike Rice, Dave Caswell, Don Metcalf, Bob Plewman, Ron Sullivan, Dave Salman, Marcello Bernardo, and Pete King.
