

P & G SHOW

Annual Show Makes Debut To-night

The Purple and Gold show, the college's largest annual production opens today, Thursday November 22nd in the Theatre Auditorium. The show will continue both Friday and Saturday nights.

As usual, this year's show promises to be most entertaining. The production is completely original and includes a variety of interesting acts.

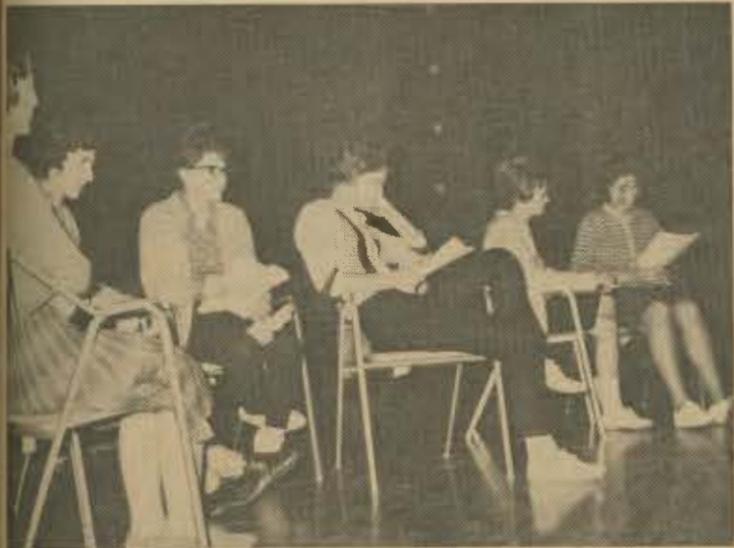

One of the main items on the programme is the play "The Boarder Student" written by Carl Albrecht in charge of musical arrangement. Brian Baker who is producer of P and G, conducts the orchestra and chorus.

Another musical group, the Rivas — newly formed this year by six of the college boys, will play in the programme. This group includes Dave Dixon singer, on drums Pete Case, Dave Anderson lead guitar, Dave Beamish bass guitar, Garry Allen saxophone and Wally Bayler on piano.

Two numbers, Summertime and Forty Days, will be played by this group.

Advertising for the P and G show is going on all over the city. Demonstrations have been presented in the high schools. Friday night members of the college paraded are George Schwindt, first vice-president; Pablo Mashetski, second vice-president; Ralph Tailby, treasurer and Mrs. T. (Betty) Freure, secretary.

Directors for the coming year are Robert Damman, Mrs. E. (Olive) Bolton, Wilf Zaiman, Mrs. W. (Lydia) Klein, Tom Freure and Mrs. J. (Betty-Lynn) Enns.

Also at the business meeting, the appointment of two members, Harry Gossen to the Senate and Mrs. R. Zinck to the Board of Governors was ratified.

Liberals Win

Robin Russell, head of the campus Liberal Party, was elected Prime Minister with a 257 vote at the recent elections.

The New Democratic Party received 238 votes, Conservatives 193 and Social Credit 43.

A complete story on Model Parliament will be given next week.

Hawks Triumph 6-2

Rookie Goalie, New Coach Aid Victory

They (meaning of course the Engineers) laughed when we came out to play hockey . . . but grins soon gave way to scorns of horror.

Last Thursday night in a cold but jammed Waterloo Arena, the Waterloo Lutheran University Hawks (of hockey fame) turned victorious and vented their wrath on the hapless Warriors (of plumbing fame) the score was 6 to 2. And just when they were getting over that football fame. Should we unleash our debating team or is it too soon?

Meanwhile, back at the arena, Doug Martin was working on a hat-trick! A hat trick for the ignorant hockey fan, is three goals scored in one game. The first period started off quietly enough. The fans, remembering last year, were silent and maybe a little apprehensive. Until well past the half-way mark, the play was hap-hazard and ragged. The Hawks played much of the period shorthanded and they were leading 4 to 1 in penalties when things began to happen. At 16:15 of the first period, veteran Doug Martin ably assisted by Paul Heinbecker and Terry Gilbertson, found a leak between the Plumbers' pipes, to score what proved to be the only tally of the first period.

The second stanza opened quickly when Gilbertson scored from Heinbecker and Martin at 2:20. This was a more active period, both teams collecting penalties. Up to now the game had proceeded with marked modesty and decorum, however at 7:05 Frank Prider of the Warriors and Dave Culham of the Hawks started an unscheduled fisticuffs. Both received 5 minute for fighting and 2 for high sticking in the sin bin. Then at 11:53, the Hawks struck again when Dave Casswell tallied from George Beljah. Now the Hawks were flying a little too high and showed it when through sloppy play they allowed Jerry Lawless of the Warriors to bring them down to earth with a counter at 13:16. By the way, Jerry Lawless, considered by many to be a bright prospect in the Montreal farm system, played a solid game for the Warriors. The Warriors now began to make noises like a hockey team, but this didn't last. At 14:07, Beljah scored from Martin and Clemmens. This was a real picture goal and Martin must get most of the credit. He worked hard in the corner, dug out the puck and Beljah scooped it past the 5 Warrior goaltenders.

In the third period, the University of Waterloo out-penalized the Hawks, 2 to 1 but the Hawks scored twice while the Warriors only

"Better Dead Than Red" Right For Individual

It is our responsibility as university students to use educational facilities to help us form and voice our opinions. This was one of the points raised by Dr. Abraham L. Feinberg, speaking on "The Warfare State and You", on November 13.

Rabbi Feinberg stated that he was not as perturbed by opposing Right Wing extremists as he was by those who were too disinterested to form opinions.

In bringing our faculties to bear on current world problems Rabbi Feinberg warned that traditional interpretations of words like "victory" and "love" are irrelevant in modern society. "There can be no victory in a war that results in total destruction," he said. "Love," he continued, "cannot be defined as the opposite of 'hate' but should be contrasted with 'death', for today love is the essential if we are to live in harmony."

Rabbi Feinberg urged students to seek the truth at university, then East and West will not continue to grow apart through ignorance and mistrust. He spoke of mistrust on both sides of the Iron Curtain when relating experiences of his trip to Russia.

Rabbi Feinberg said what was lacking in the world was a realistic attitude. He explained that an individual has no right to say "better dead than Red" unless he is speaking for himself only. Under Communist domination the hope to regain liberty remains, while death offers no future. With this realistic attitude should be coupled self criticism.

In concluding Rabbi Feinberg warned that politics should not be left to the politicians any more than war should be left to the generals.

UNIVERSITY NAVAL TRAINING

For the first time in several years, students from Waterloo University College are now training with the University Naval Training Division at the Federated Colleges (O.A.C.-O.V.C.) in Guelph.

These four students and one student from the University of Waterloo were attested October 31st at a ceremony attended by Lieut. Esther J. Brandon and LCDR. Kenneth Scott, Training Officer, of H.M.C.S. "Star" (Kitchener Tender). This ceremony is the twentieth in the history of the UNTD in Guelph.

P & G Show

Once again, the annual Purple and Gold show is under way. This year's play, The Boarder Incident, should prove to be a delightful musical comedy.

The recent rehearsals seemed to have run quite smoothly as far as rehearsals go. There was, however, one big drawback. About every third speech was interrupted by the stage manager, Juri Wallner, asking those in the cast bothered by nicotine not to butt their cigarettes on the floor.

Last night, a dress rehearsal was held for the elderly people and crippled children in the Twin City area.

The two and one-half hour show should present us with a number of interesting characters. Kelrah Toalkit, the boarder, is employed in the public relations department of the Canadian Government. Mr. Toalkit, a pompous Englishman, comes to Canada to study Canadian culture (i.e. our supposed Canadian culture). A sophisticated, unbiased and cautious person, he is flabbergasted when he comes into contact with some of our customs, especially necking. He describes Canadians as unexcitable, interested in only the material aspects of life. He feels they over-indulge in eating. He describes the Doukabors as "flabby".

The play also introduces us to our famed Canadian personality, the politician. Alexander Mackenzie Kanada, playing the part of a politician, tries to promote a national flag, a national anthem and national sports. Mr. Kanada appears as a hybrid between John Diefenbaker, John Kennedy and Oral Roberts.

We are also presented with the politicians parallel — the salesman. This gentleman represents Quarts Quality Incorporated and appears to typify Senator Claghorn.

The play in general, centres around Canadian culture and is climaxed by the unveiling of the new Canadian flag — which should prove to be a very interesting spectacle.

About 70 students are actively participating in this annual event. They have devoted many of their precious hours to their work in order to provide the student body with a highly delightful and interesting play. The student body can show their appreciation by giving these campus stars a 100 per cent attendance during the three-day performance.

Is There Any Truth In The Rumour That:

The College is going to buy some additional property from the Ontario Liberal Association?

The University, not to be outdone, is going to buy a subdivision from a prominent Progressive Conservative party leader?

The New Democratic Party has offered the local Union hall for additional classroom space?

The Social Credit, on hearing of these developments, offered some choice muskeg in Northern Quebec — at quite a good price?

After the alumni tour of the campus by the cheerleaders, last Saturday, President Villaume took up a silver collection?

Sex is the only way of having fun without laughing?

There is saltpetre in the milk in the Torque Room?

Real Caouette is being awarded an honorary degree at spring convocation and C.O.T.C. is going to form an honour guard.

As an inducement to attend chapel, coffee will be given away in the auditorium at 10:15 every morning.

P.S. Thought for the day: and Jesus said to the multitude come forth — but the multitude came fifth and finished out of the money.

Good Turnout

To the Editor: I wish to thank all of the students who cast their ballots in last Tuesday's election. It is commendable that the turnout was as large as the previous abortive effort.

Congratulations to Robin Russell for his past success, and best wishes for Robin and his party in Model Parliament.

As Leader of the New Democratic Party, and of the Opposition, I hope that the Liberal party will present a constructive and interesting program in Model Parliament.

The New Democrats will support any legislation which we consider beneficial to Canada; we will not defeat the Liberal Government without just cause. The onus rests upon them to produce in the Throne Speech measures that will deal firmly with the problems facing Canada to-day.

Finally I would like to thank, on behalf of all those who organized our campaign, the very many students who voted for the New Democratic Party in the election. You have our heart-felt thanks and assurance that we shall justify your warm support by being a constructive Opposition in the House.

Deadline Unrealistic

To the Editor: Referring to the editorial in the Cord Weekly Nov. 15, in particular to the section dealing with deadlines: a newspaper loses all value if it does not present news within a reasonable length of time. To expect an event that happens Tuesday afternoon to be printed and distributed by Thursday is not unreasonable. The 10 a.m. deadline seems totally unrealistic and should be changed even if this entails a change of printers.

Chalmers To Speak At Assembly

VIEWPOINT

By Gary Slimmon

Dear Sam Flanders: I never expected to have to write to your column, because personally, I think your column stinks. But now I have a problem. My wife, to whom I have been married for fifteen years, has started to cheat on me lately. When I married her, she was the most honest, upright, and trusting person I knew, including myself (I was a real rotter). Since that time I have given her everything a woman could want; love, affection, three beautiful children (they take after me), a mortgaged house, a mortgaged car, a mortgaged T.V., two ugly children (they take after her), a case of liquid soap that's kind and gentle to her hands, and an automatic dish-washer so she doesn't have to use the crummy soap. All this and I find her cheating on me. I wouldn't mind so much, but when you're playing for a penny a point it isn't very funny. Please tell me in your usual catty way what I can do.—CLAUDE.

Dear Claude: Simply tell her that you are going to pay off all the mortgages if she doesn't stop cheating on you. I guarantee she'll cease this dishonourable practice immediately because she won't want to lose her social prestige among the other women in the neighbourhood. Can you imagine what an outcast she would be if the news ever got around that yours was the only family on the block that had no debts at all? If, however, this doesn't work, a well-placed kick in the head, a fat eye, or a short, solid rabbit-punch will let her know that you mean business. Above all be subtle.

Dear Sam Flanders: As you probably know, I was involved in the recent Cuban crisis. After I had made my announcement of the quarantine of that country, it seemed that all of the Western world was on my side and was prepared to back me up. (There were a few countries that gave me a bit of a run-around, but these usually do anyway.) I was very pleased to see that my decision had met with approval in so many quarters. However, now that things have quieted down for a while, there have been many criticisms of the way in which I handled the situation, among them the fact that I did not consult my allies before under-taking the move to quarantine Cuba. Now I am beginning to feel badly about leaving these other chaps out. Do you think that I did wrong? — J.F.K.

The Liberal who last week signed himself "Disillusioned, Frustrated Freshman" in his letter to the editor used terms that we feel superfluous. The content shows that he is certainly frustrated and the cynical attitude indicates disillusionment.

The term "freshman", however, was most enlightening because we feared that the local nursery schools were allowing . . . — — —

Having heard the one-sided telephone conversations which are the specialty of a few top comedians, we have begun to pay attention to any telephone conversations we happen to overhear. The other day we were present when one of these intimate tete-a-tetes took place and the following is, to the best of our knowledge, an accurate transcript of our end of the dialogue.

"Yes, this is Robin Russell; I'm head of the W.U.C. Liberal Party.

You . . . uh . . . you're on the Bridgeport Town Council? What can I do for you, sir?

You want to buy some land, is that right?

Well, what do you propose to do with this land? . . . You want to build a university. . . and you need about 200 acres, is that what you said?

Sir, what kind of courses would this university offer? . . . Engineering. . . but with some arts and sciences.

It appears, sir, that already you have put some thought into this scheme. . . you already have some financial backing . . . a president . . . and you think that you have a geography department lined up and — oh, pardon me, — that's Department of Geography and Planning, is it?

What is the nature of this financial support? Uh . . . you don't want to mention any names . . . but one is a retired executive, yes . . . and one of the local bootleggers has promised a structure of some kind.

. . . and the president is presently heading a church institution . . . but he wants to leave. Why that, sir? He dislikes the Anglicans, Uniteds, Mennonites and Roman Catholics . . . but doesn't they're quite as bad as — what was that, sir? The Lutherans . . . and you say he's a Canadian? — — —

But sir, many university colleges are run by religious deities? . . . you have already spoken to a group — the Sons of Freedom — and they're considering it.

You say that this will go over with Diefenbaker? . . . maybe part of his vision?

And . . . and as long as you are affiliated with those damned dependent Lutherans . . . yes, sir, the only ones operating a university in the province without provincial grants, you think you have a chance of getting money from whom, . . . from Premier Robarts.

. . . about eight million dollars . . . and you'd be willing to spend about $2,000 an acre . . . even that we paid considerably less.

Well, that sounds fine, sir, what about accommodations for students? . . . you have a bar and beverage room. Uh, sir, uh, I was referring to living accommodations! . . . you say you know engineering students and . . . ?

Yes, sir, we'll talk it over. Goodbye."

Wouldn't it have saved a lot of trouble for those conducting WUC National Development if the Lutheran Church had borrowed a few hundred thousand dollars a few years ago? Such a sum invested in Major Holdings (Waterloo) would have gained us our objective of $1,300,000.

Lectures Instead Of Chapel

A new series of extra-curricular lectures will be presented this year at Assembly.

The lectures will be on the last Tuesday of every month, and will be held instead of Chapel on that day.

Dr. Abraham Feinberg and Dr. Brock Chisholm have already delivered the first of lectures in the series designed to cover current world problems. Many other distinguished visitors, from all over the continent, have been invited to W.L.U. as part of this scheme to broaden students' outlook.

It is hoped students will find the series both interesting and informative.

VITAL STATISTICS?

Several weeks ago, a small group of keen students decided to make a survey of W.U.C. The following information, collected by diligent research and acute observations reveal some startling and heretofore unknown statistics about the W.U.C. campus.

Note that where (as in No. 4) a statistic covers a period of time, the figure shown is calculated as an average from one week's observation unless otherwise stated.

1. The stairs between the Dining Hall and the S.U.B. has 27 steps.
2. From the drinking fountain by Room 208 to the counter at the coffee hot plate in the Torque Room is 73.6 feet using the west stairs and 86.1 feet using the east stairs.
3. In the Biology Lab., 69.52% of the cats are female.
4. Of the 46 people late for lectures, 39 of them live on campus; 2 off campus.
5. 32.9% of the men on campus own electric shavers. 77.6% of these shavers are not in working order.
6. 71.28% of the women on campus like bearded men.
7. 4 people fall into the pool beside the Men's Residence each week.
8. The most vigorous club on campus, the ski team, comprised of 12 men, expends a total 102,466.3 foot pounds of energy per man per week in exercises.
9. Be careful. The clock in the Torque Room is 2 minutes,

10. The cows "moo" 14 times a day; the calves 36.8 times.
11. The mean daily temperature for last as week recorded in the Geography Lab was 76.5°F.
12. Audrey has 15 keys on her key ring. Two don't open anything.
13. A fantastic total of 5,436 man (and woman) hours of labour have been put into the production of the 1962 P.&G. show.
14. There are 72 English Sparrows (Passer domesticus) in the ivy on Willison Hall. 66.2% of them are male; the remainder are female.
15. The total length of the ivy on Willison Hall is an amazing 736.2 miles.
16. 28.3 people try to get into the Torque Room between 9:50 a.m. and 10:15 a.m. while the doors are locked. Six of these are faculty members. Five students and one professor try both doors.
17. 97.6% of these statistics must be accepted cum grano salis.

A more detailed list of these useful and informative facts about the W.U.C. campus is being compiled at present for publication in next year's Orientation Handbook.

K. SILCOX

18. Latest survey statistics just acquired shows the Cord, the most widely read newspaper on campus, is read front to back by 71.6% of the student body; back to front by 28.4% of the student body.

The newly formed Business and Economics Club was fortunate in having as its first speaker Mr. David S. Beatty, President of the Investments Dealers Association of Canada. Mr. Beatty spoke on November 15 to a large group of business and economics students and professors. His topic was an interesting and timely one, being centred around the present investment climate in stocks and bonds in Canada and the role of the Association within this climate. The club president, Don Hyden, introduced Mr. Beatty. Following the speech, a lively question and answer period was held.

Accompanying Mr. Beatty to our campus were Mr. O'Brien, Manager of McLeod, Young, Weir & Co. Ltd. in Kitchener; Mr. Cox, President of the Investment Dealers Association of Ontario; and Mr. Harvie, Director of Education for the Investment Dealers Association of Canada. A luncheon was held in the dining hall following the talk, with the guests, the executive of the Business and Economics Club, and some of the business and economics professors being present.

The Business and Economics Club was very pleased with the success of this event and hopes to bring many other such qualified speakers to the campus of Waterloo University College.

Sports News and Views

by Murray Ross

Looks like we might have a hockey team too! Our hockey Hawks got off to a fine start last Thursday against the Engineers. Room for improvement is evident, but I feel sure that that will come. Four men in a corner to dig out a puck are hardly necessary, and a man in front of the net is a must at all times. The team also lacked the positional play required to take advantage of lapses in the enemy defense. One must remember however that this game was the first together for over half of the players and time will no doubt mould a very efficient attack.

The defense played well, especially when forced to kill penalties; Bill Clemmens and Dave Russel merit special mention in this department. I cannot mention the defence without recording that goalie Grant Joyner did an outstanding job throughout the whole game. When a team knows that a reliable netminder is backing them up, they can play with greater confidence and concentration at the other end of the ice. This year we should see a better team because of the goalie alone, but we have more than that—Ted Favot, (Baggy Pants) is on the rampage again after an outstanding football season. Ted was injured early in the season last year, but after skating through and at times over assorted Engineers, Baggy Pants appears in top shape. Ross Heacock also deserves an A for effort—no one on the ice tries harder than does Ross. One last look: Dave Martin deserves a line as does anyone who scores three goals and assists on another.

Football gave what was probably its last gasp on Monday when the Champions gathered to receive and pay tribute to their coaches. The team gathered at Bob Celeri's about five-thirty to get warmed up for the festivities to follow. At the banquet itself, Bill Millar was voted the most valuable player to the team, while Ted Favot was elected the Hawk captain. Then the players viewed the films of their first game of the season against the Warriors: this indeed proved amusing, as no one realized just how bad we looked in that first pre-season escapade.

Can you draw? Then why aren't you working for the Sports department? We are offering a five dollar prize for the best sports cartoon. The subject can be anything to do with sports that are currently in season. Cartoons that are submitted will be printed as they come in. The prize will be awarded during the second term when the winning cartoon will be printed and the author announced. The more entries you make the better chance you have of making five dollars.

Anyone in the audience who has questions concerning sports, or opinions they wish to express, providing of course that the opinions are not too different from those expressed by this office, place your epistles in the mailbox marked "R".

Hawks score first goal on way to another glorious win over the University.

Hopes High For Hooper Hawks

The basketball edition of the Hawks commences its home season on November 26 at 8:00 p.m. against Hamilton Teachers College. This will likely be the only home game before the Christmas vacation so be sure to attend.

The Hawks are again entered in the O.A.I.A. basketball league. Last year we finished in a second place tie (8-4) behind McMaster (10-2). This year the league is divided up into 2 divisions, with the winner of each section playing off for the championship. Our division includes the University of Waterloo, Western Ontario Institute of Technology, Hamilton Institute of Technology, and O.A.C. The other division includes McMaster, York University, Ryerson, Osgoode Hall, and Laurentian University.

The team this year has four of its starting five returning from last year. These include last year's high scorer, Court Heinbuch, Bob Woodbarn, Doug Dart, and Gary Cuff. These four will be helped by John Lewis 6'5", Bob Turner 6'4", Jim Gollert 6'3", Irn Simon, Earl Linzon, Mike Brousseau, Bob Eaton, Ernie Fazakas, Murray Williamson and John McKenzie. Back again this year is the coach, Jim Swartz. The managers this year are Dave Freeman and Jim Grant.

Featured games this year will be a home and home series with the University of Buffalo and a return game against Roberts Wesleyan College of North Chili, N.Y., who humiliated our Hawks 104-54 last year. Our team this year has high hopes of winning the championship, but this cannot be done without the support of the whole school. Get out to all the home games and give the team the support it deserves.

SMASHING VICTORY FOR HAWKETTES

November 14, the girls of Waterloo University College hosted the first badminton and volleyball tournament ever held in the new auditorium. Participating colleges were: University of Western Ontario, Alma College, and the University of Waterloo.

Despite the few nights of practice, the girls were still able to emerge victorious over teams with greater experience. It was a "Round Robin" Tournament and the scores were as follows:

Waterloo University College	6
Western	4
Alma	4
University of Waterloo	1

Credit should be given to Lilian McTavish, Joan Bluhm, and Kathy

McCausland, our badminton players, for their fine performances; Maryanne Weiler, Joan von Zittwitz (captain), Jan McCowan, Elli Rehse, Kathy Schuler, Dallis Trott, Ann Simmons, Jackie Hobbs, Isabel Lister and Janet Bauer, the girls of the volleyball team; and our efficient and hard-working officials: Janis Inglis, Fran Rintoul, Marg Emerson and Lina Noecker.

The head of the Women's Athletic Association, Brigitte von Zittwitz, received the Invitational Plaque on behalf of the Hawkettes.

Girls, don't forget the basketball, volleyball, swimming and badminton tournament at O.A.C. on Nov. 24.

At 40 seconds of the final period, Dave Martin moved from George Beljah while everyone else in the arena was releaning his or her respective tensions. At 4:25 the Warriors replied when Fronk Pider scored assisted by John Marsh. At 16:50 Doug Martin completed his hat-trick with the help of both Cowan and Ross Heacock.

Rookie goalie Grant Joyner did an outstanding job in the nets for the Hawks. He and Clemmens and Cufham plus the whole defense are to be congratulated. Butch McGee played a fine game giving leadership and impetus to the team every time he was on the ice. Every so often he encouraged the Hawks by whispering sweet nothings in opposing players' ears. And don't forget Theodore? Favot. He kept them honest. He may have taken off his spikes but he still remembers his blocking assignments.

Freshman Coach Charlie Brooker left after the first period to keep a previous engagement with the K-W Tigers. Berle Klinch, an outstanding defenseman with the Woodstock Athletics of the Senior "A" O.H.A. took over for the rest of the game. It looks as if Charlie Brooker has a team to work with and we have a team to be proud of and support. The least you can do is be at the next home game in person on December 13 when the Hawks tangle with McMaster. See you there.

In Five-Pin bowling, the standings between the four teams are close. High man for the day was Chuck Juryn with 277, and high lady was Ruth Hinton with 172.

Turning to Ten-Pin bowling, Sue Williams received a trophy from Highland Bowl for bowling her 216 single.

As a result of last Thursday's bowling, there is a three way tie for first place between the Hawks, Jokers, and Experts.

A bowling contest is being sponsored by Player's Cigarettes. All you have to do to enter is to beat your average on certain days assigned. The fifty finalists receive a trip to Jamaica for two. The entry fee is only fifty cents. So come, guys and gals, and enter. This contest applies to any type of bowling.
