P. & G. Headed For Smashing Success

P. & G Show Taking On Final Form

The P & G cast held its first rehearsal in the Waterloo Collegiate auditorium on Sunday night last. It was the first time that one could really see the show beginning to take shape. All the acts rehearsed to an appreciative audience made up of the other members of the cast.

Mike Whitehead flew about the auditorium giving instructions and advice to his principals and, surprisingly enough, remained somewhat sane throughout the whole of the ordeal.

Jim Neeb, who is directing the musical end of things, put his songsters through their parts without a hitch. There is no doubt that the catchy numbers will be well received by everyone.

The opening song, "The Skits O' Frenzy Revu-u-ue", and accompanying dance routine, should set the theme and mood of the show. The extreme cleverness and good taste will undoubtedly heap many laurels upon the great white (head) father.

Of course, let's not forget Chris Pletch who wrote the music for the show. The original zippy little numbers "W.U.C.", "Abbreviations", and "Do It Now", will undoubtedly be among the favourite tunes for potential whistlers on campus and in the K-W area.

The Jazz Band is a unique institution in its own way. By unique I mean its entrance. If one likes to recall the days of the great swing bands, then this group should spur the memories of quite a few.

The choir under the direction of Dr. M. L. Dolbeer upholds the old southern tradition of spiritual singing, while the Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Charles McLain upholds the local tradition of German beer-drinking songs.

The skits poke fun at a cross section of the Twentieth Century institutions. Bomb threats and fall-out scares are wittily portrayed in a little thing called "The Bomb Fallout Shelter". Another throws an uppercut to the chin of college football in a ditty written after a Shakespearean manner. In this one Whitehead jeers at his own college football team with amazing — to boot — so look for it. This is the irony of the sarcasm and wit of the author (writer?)

"By the Turn of Your Dial" was originally produced by Mike West; however, although the idea is the same, the dialogue has been changed to suit local tastes. Mike gives vent to his practical side when he expostulates on "The High Cost of Dying".

The show will undoubtedly be the most successful of all P & G's. This little preview as to what to expect we hope will inspire ticket sales for Thursday and Friday. (Saturday is filled to capacity).

Council Holds Marathon Session

Should Students' Council loan money to organizations representing the school but not officially recognized as a school club or organization? This was the question which caused much debate in last Wednesday's council meeting, along with the consideration of various other clubs' budgets. This meeting, by far the most lengthy of the year, lasted from seven in the evening to one o'clock Thursday morning, complete with two ten minute intermissions.

The length of this "meeting", which at times threatened to turn into something representing the inquisition was due in great part to a request by Cliff Mahood to speak on this year's Ice Carnival. The spot occupied by this gentleman had previously been scheduled for a discussion on changes to the Student Council constitution.

Previous to this issue however, and following the consideration and requests of various school clubs for grants of money from council, a request was brought forward by a council member representing the WUC Royals. This is a basketball team, not officially recognized as a

Council Issues Winter Carnival Statement

During the council's regular meeting on Wednesday evening, a discussion arose concerning "Winter Carnival". Cliff Mahood, present chairman of the carnival committee, presented a tentative programme which he, in conjunction with R.V. Hermansen, had prepared. The programme had been presented to the carnival committee, who, being indecisive, referred it to the Executive of the Administrative Council for confirmation. Both bodies agreed concerning the general programme with the exception of the proposed public dance to be held at the Kitchener Memorial Auditorium. The Student Council, assuming that Mr. Hermansen would be responsible for the promotion of the dance, voted, after two members absented themselves, in favour of Mr. Mahood's plan and moved that the executive of the council approach the Administrative Council to reverse its decision.

At a meeting with the Dean on Thursday evening, it was devolved that the carnival was not Mr. Hermansen's direct responsibility. Therefore, with this and other information the President of Student Council called an emergency meeting Friday afternoon. The council voted unanimously to hold this meeting "in Camera", with the exception of some members of the carnival committee, which included the Dean, W. Haggstrom and D. Morgenson, being present.

After further discussion and clarification of the position of Mr. Hermansen and the Administration, the council moved that the carnival committee accept the generous budget which had been granted by the Administrative Council. This budget was increased from $500 to $1,810, with the stipulation that the public dance on the proposed scale be cancelled.

A vote of confidence in Mr. Mahood's ability to carry out such a programme was unanimously passed. The council recommended that the carnival committee be revised to include a more active and representative membership from the administration, the faculty, the alumni and the student body, recommending that Mr. Mahood be retained as chairman.

The P & G dancers go through their paces during last day rehearsals

Skits O' Frenzy

by Peter I. Hardy

On the 22nd of November another Purple & Gold show gets under way. On that day the P & G will have a dress rehearsal at which a group of handicapped "kids" from Toronto's Variety Village and another group from Kitchener will attend. Then on the 23rd., 24th., and 25th. the grand show will be presented to the public. The show will be held at Waterloo Collegiate auditorium which can seat 600. This means that 1800 can see the show and on the basis of ticket sales this capacity may soon be reached. Don't be left out; BEG, BUY or BORROW a ticket. Tickets are being sold by clubs and individuals. They are also on sale at Schendel's Coudies, and The Chicken Nest. The cost is $1.50 reserved and $1.00 general admission.

A timely skit on fallout shelters should prove interesting. Music will be provided by the college choir, men's chorus, the "Wayfarers", and jazz band. Dance numbers will also be presented. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

All the students have worked hard on the show. Show your interest by buying a ticket.

college team by the athletic department, but representing this school in the YMCA house league. Their request was for the sum of 50 dollars, in the form of a loan. This huge sum of money was not the cause of the debate. The argument put forward against the loan, was that a precedent would be set and every Tom, Dick and Harry would be forming a club of some type, saying it represented WUC and requesting a loan. After much argument on the subject which included the ideas that such a team was good publicity for the school, and that this grant would in no way set a precedent for future loans, the loan was granted.

Other highlights of the meeting included the proposed approach of Shelly Finson, Ron Woods, Lou Sattler, Jim Kent, and Brian Baker by John Erb, Chairman of Honor Awards Committee to serve on that committee. Jim Meade is the Junior Class representative.

A discussion of the constitution of the Westminster Club took up a few minutes of the evening, and turned into an issue clouded with confusion. It was eventually straightened out and the club's request for money granted.

John Vermeulen, Council Treasurer, presented a new bookkeeping plan to be adopted by all clubs on the campus. This system has been devised by the administration and is supposed to ease auditing, as well as the job of the individual clubs' new administration in coming years.

The grant that was last year given to the P & G group for a cast party following the final performance was again allotted this year.

The long overdue purchase of a record player, complete with amplifier and microphone, for school use was discussed, and permission has finally been granted to the existing committee in charge to buy one at their discretion.

Council also discussed a change in this week's meeting time. It was finally decided to hold the meeting Tuesday in spite of the first home basketball game to be held that evening. The change was necessitated by the P & G show which is running this week.

Scribblings

—The gospel according to the press has instilled in its believers an irrational fear of the inevitability of death and the necessity of fall-out shelters. The former has been inevitable since Adam; the latter leads to a false sense of security. FDR, erstwhile president, once stated, "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself." Today we have an hysterical hysteria of hysteria.

—The Dief-Green-Drew triumvirate is confused on Tory attitude toward England entering the ECM. England desperately needs this economic relationship but apron-stringed Canada fears the economic political unweaning and the High Commissioner prefers bridge to reports. Anyway, the British press is giving us a "grand slam".

Treasure Van Successful

by Mary Bowman

For the past few weeks, W.U.S. has been busy preparing for the arrival of "Treasure Van". The new girls' residence has been crawling with college boys paving the way for the event, much to the girls' enjoyment.

To understand the purpose of this one must first know the work done by W.U.S. W.U.S. is a world-wide organization which works with "Treasure Van" to help other university and college students. Each year one university which needs financial assistance in some way is chosen. Perhaps a donation is given for a new gymnasium, library, swimming pool, scholarships, etc. Such donations come from the proceeds of "Treasure Van", all of which W.U.S. receives, and include only the student bodies, regardless of race, creed, or religion. The professors and administration do not enter the picture.

The executive of W.U.S., and those in charge of "Treasure Van" were:

| President | Jack Leon |
| Secretary | Diane Strahm |
| Chairman of | |
| Treasure Van | Bob Phillips |
| Publicity | |
| Chairman | Eve Klein |
| Refreshments | Donna Muir |

This year, twenty-five countries were represented. Each country was given a table on which were displayed handicrafts and articles from the motherland. "Treasure Van" was well attended by residents of Kitchener and Waterloo, and by the student body of Waterloo University College. It was generally felt, however, that many of the items were too expensive for a college student's budget. Nevertheless, W.U.S. is happy to report that an even greater profit than last year was made. This indicates that the undertaking was successful both in finance and experience. W.U.S. and the student body wish to thank Mrs. Binhammer, the housemother, for allowing "Treasure Van" to be held in the recreation room of the new girls' residence. The space and atmosphere definitely added to its complete success.
