8-11-2014

Two Poems: "Economy Class Particulate View" and "Daynotes on Fields & Forms (Flittings)"

Linda Russo

Follow this and additional works at / Suivez-nous ainsi que d’autres travaux et œuvres:
https://scholars.wlu.ca/thegoose

Recommended Citation / Citation recommandée Russo, Linda. "Two Poems: "Economy Class Particulate View" and "Daynotes on Fields & Forms (Flittings)"." The Goose, vol. 13 , no. 1 , article 32, 2014, https://scholars.wlu.ca/thegoose/vol13/iss1/32.

This article is brought to you for free and open access by Scholars Commons @ Laurier. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Goose by an authorized editor of Scholars Commons @ Laurier. For more information, please contact scholarscommons@wlu.ca.
Cet article vous est accessible gratuitement et en libre accès grâce à Scholars Commons @ Laurier. Le texte a été approuvé pour faire partie intégrante de la revue The Goose par un rédacteur autorisé de Scholars Commons @ Laurier. Pour de plus amples informations, contactez scholarscommons@wlu.ca.
Little smirched clouds. Should we be more Scared. The placement of houses. Neat Organ-like. Patterns. A lopsided lake
In a wide circle enclosed. An even a greater lake Somewhere. Water is brown. An everything shadow Listening. I don’t. So still. So Much more planet.

Would defy it. Tennis courts. A purposeful clump. Trees. Dirt An asphalt. Pitcher’s mounds. An cars flowing agreeably in every Possible direction. Or wishing it was over. The little pipes An bumps. Criss-crossing. Ours
The subtle haze trap. An a whiff of run-off. Our hidden Indifference to flight plan. What could be. More Carefully stupid.
I thought coniferous. An I thought more than once I could not give. It. More thought. Tell us a story Comprised of thick trees. An something more Probable. Transfats. An plastics. Downcycling Into defusable goods.

You gauge the location of objects in the distance in relation To other objects. Not to yourself. This method reveals positive Results. Sunshines. So what’s wrong. The lake Itself. Completes the frame. Or else. Cathedral. Marina
An where they park it.
Steel gray water sea blue sky. The perhaps correct clouds. An the diamond Need not float in a setting like a star. I learn.

I congratulate the powerful. The transfer of power. An the aftermath Equation. Convincing. If you glimpse inside the luggage of the snoozing Ever-tanned. You mighty perceive. Which goes beyond. An requires a worldly diagram Wise. An in disguise okay.

On the farther shore we encounter refineries. Please return To your proper context. Managerial class whisked with its own Opacity. Or am I the first. It’s not the size of the seat but the cargo Capacity. Known to embark on long journeys of despair. Which suggests a last resort joke. A seaside tintinnabulum.
Am I the first? Her worried eyes as she left. An the somehow Smile. Who pushes clean technology. An environmental Needs. An more importantly a hand truck. Whose sanitized handshake. Is it better that way? You’ve fused. Or are you feeling Again the risk of assessment.

As a child I dreamed. Because I could. If we must know. Given tests. By half-wits. Measured. I could not see the point. Only figures.
An now we return to cooler climes. An a diet of message.
A true sunset graces our benign exchange. Now it’s your turn You’re learning. Your faith is overdue. That’s something. I’m so Pretty. An real. Traveling east. An hour ahead of my worried eyes An somehow smile.

The lakes look like fingers despite the indescribable pink Glow. It’s only love. A fog of make-up reapplication. The compounded Interest of repackaged stimulus grammar.
Daynotes on Fields & Forms (Flittings)

quiet gray afternoon tastes green after tea, after cracking Oklahoma pecan for northwest red squirrels, after trying to identify my memory
of a bird (guide) before more return “all the trifling incidents”
(Susan Fenimore Cooper, Rural Hours)

Sunday Feb. 14

[...]

it’s too cold to go in the yard dogs bark, the sunlight is doing what?
it’s lighting, they are sunning.
it’s a luminous hot spot I know little of – much of the yard is shaded at this hour

3/5, Fri

[...]

bring your pail
and name my flowers
walk with me to till the end of my space mow my waste (or teach me how)

Sunday, April 18

[...]

sun beaming off the page, and the subtle smell of lilacs; warming up the day with a goldfinch

problem is, I don’t know if that’s a weed quail in the front yard today, a pair, and then on the roof of the sunroom I think when I opened the door

do they squak? sqawk? squawk? skwak? squack?

squirrel prefers to cart off hazelnuts (two – leaving one behind); likes banana, but not strawberry nubs

a little chilly today when sun behind cloud and not too bright, and now it’s slightly drizzling

Saturday 5/8

where “outside” begins experience enhances – multicolored leaves shower your head – experience exfoliates

where home ends – it’s a common misperception

▪

yard looks very different than when last I wrote. Like that bush covered with yellow flowers that look like daffodils and the breezy stand of paperwhites.

A background happiness in labor. It feels cold here.

Should I make the rolls or eat the soup and what should I do tomorrow?

BP’s trying to collect oil from the gulf and burning off natural gas, plugging up holes with mud, drilling relief wells for months. Our will in the twenty five-mile radius slick, in the demand for streaming video. Looking out for hummingbirds. 100,000 barrels or 500,000? What’s more important – moment with sky? a poem? the downswell in the darkening seawater.

5/18/10 Tuesday

in a shock of Saturday silence

I could go pull weeds and I did and planted

7/25
yard aswarm with aphids
   no poem follows from these lines

[...]

morning sitting & deciding which book to bring greeny corner of peach room waking solace choose books, save things to disk only have to sit still and think, mind moves – save things to disk thunder + rain + sirens last night, this morning the muted dramas of gardening

Friday July 30

carillon bells – instant uplift

four large birds incredibly high low, distant-sounding crickets in a glance distant birds vanish six birds reappear hammering, traffic, resonant resident

watch the yard why not pick pears plums
slice salad pears, pudding perhaps hear them falling

9/12 Monday, Later

[...]

it’s not that my displeasure with Walmart grows any as the building progresses but the building itself manifests my disdain as it ruins, outscales, complicates the simple line of the landscape, obscures the irregular rows of headstones I can see from the crest of Pioneer Hill, directs me with its new traffic light, shall it ever sink in

Tues. Sept. 21

LINDA RUSSO (inhabitorypoetics.blogspot.com) is the author of Mirth (Chax Press) and The Enhanced Immediacy of the Everyday (forthcoming 2014, Chax Press), in which “Economy Class Particulate View” will appear. Picturing Everything Closer Visible (Projective Industries), a chapbook-length excerpt of a walk-in poem, recently appeared. She is a recipient of fellowships at the Centrum Center for the Arts and the Millay Colony, and her work was recently featured in Curating the Cosmos (http://cargocollective.com/curatingthecosmos/Linda-Russo-The-Confluence).

Her published writing on contemporary American poetry includes a hybrid review essay of Anne Waldman’s Iovis Trilogy (http://jacket2.org/reviews/reading-iovis-bolinas), the preface to Joanne Kyger’s About Now: Collected Poems (National Poetry Foundation), and, more recently, an essay in the edited collection Among Friends: Engendering the Social Site of Poetry (University of Iowa Press). She lives in the Columbia River Watershed and teaches at Washington State University.