9-1-2015

through a wheat field; to a pond

Ian Mikyska
Guildhall School of Music & Drama

Part of the Composition Commons, Critical and Cultural Studies Commons, Music Practice Commons, Other Theatre and Performance Studies Commons, Place and Environment Commons, Radio Commons, and the Reading and Language Commons

Follow this and additional works at / Suivez-nous ainsi que d’autres travaux et œuvres:
https://scholars.wlu.ca/thegoose

Recommended Citation / Citation recommandée Mikyska, Ian. "through a wheat field; to a pond." The Goose, vol. 14, no. 1, article 22, 2015, https://scholars.wlu.ca/thegoose/vol14/iss1/22.

This article is brought to you for free and open access by Scholars Commons @ Laurier. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Goose by an authorized editor of Scholars Commons @ Laurier. For more information, please contact scholarscommons@wlu.ca.

Cet article vous est accessible gratuitement et en libre accès grâce à Scholars Commons @ Laurier. Le texte a été approuvé pour faire partie intégrante de la revue The Goose par un rédacteur autorisé de Scholars Commons @ Laurier. Pour de plus amples informations, contactez scholarscommons@wlu.ca.
through a wheat field; to a pond

An audiopoem composed for three performers walking through a wheatfield.

https://youtu.be/oVObHdtpm-Q

IAN MIKYSKA is a composer, intermedia artist and poet from the Czech Republic. He is currently studying with James Weeks at the Guildhall School of Music & Drama in London, though his work invariably strays from music to fringe areas of sound: text, projection, performance, theatre or video. His work has been published in Psi vino, A2, Slovo, Novy prosto, HISvoice, among others. His poem on properties of observation was published as part of the anthology Abolishing Prague (Charles University Press). He is also active as a translator of Czech poetry and prose into English.